The pier has been closed for several weeks because the county's liability insurance on the facility has been cancelled.

According to Chancery Clerk Michael Neprise, the cancellation occurred when the firm supplying the policy stopped offering liability coverage for municipalities.

Neprise was asked by the board to find a new insurance company, but despite working with about nine brokers he has found only one firm offering a policy on the pier.

That policy offered only $300,000 in liability coverage rather than the $500,000 in the old policy and excluded swimming and diving at a cost of $3,328 per year. The old policy cost $1,048 and covered swimming and diving.

Neprise said he is still trying to obtain insurance, but the only response covered by Federal Emergency Management Agency funds obtained after the pier was damaged by hurricanes Elena and Juan.

Pernicaro had suggested placing additional warning signs on the pier and stenciling "No diving or swimming" onto the pier itself.

He explained that he had discussed the matter with Travirca before the board meeting and had brought up the matter because he had received numerous inquiries about the pier.

"He told me he felt the insurance should come out of the general county fund," Pernicaro explained.

"I told him that it would be fine to maintain the pier and pay the insurance out of the general county fund."

In addition, he disagreed with Travirca's contention that the pier has been maintained with Beat Five money.

The pier has been closed for several weeks because the county's liability insurance on the facility has been cancelled.

According to Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise, the cancellation occurred when the firm supplying the policy stopped offering liability coverage for municipalities.

Necaise was asked by the board to find a new insurance company, but despite working with about nine brokers he has found only one firm offering a policy on the pier.

That policy offered only $300,000 in liability coverage rather than the $500,000 in the old policy and excluded swimming and diving at a cost of $3,528 per year. The old policy cost $1,046 and covered swimming and diving.

Necaise said he is still trying to obtain insurance, but the only response covered by Federal Emergency Management Agency funds obtained after the pier was damaged by hurricanes Elena and Juan.

Pernicaro had suggested placing additional warning signs on the pier and stenciling "No diving or swimming" onto the pier itself.

He explained that he had discussed the matter with Travirca before the board meeting and had brought up the matter because he had received numerous inquiries about the pier.

"He told me he felt the insurance should come out of the general county fund," Pernicaro explained.

"I told him that it would be fine to maintain the pier and pay the insurance out of the general county fund."

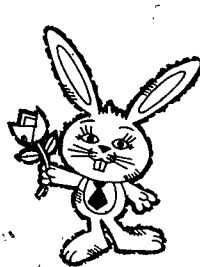

In addition, he disagreed with Travirca's contention that the pier has been maintained with Boat Five money.

A tragedy: Where do we go from here?

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Foster parents are in short supply compared to the need in Hancock County, according to Wallace Bradley, Department of Welfare director, and Michael Haas Sr., Youth Court judge.

"Being a foster parent is no easy job, and we only have a few people who offer their services in this capacity to the community," Bradley stated Wednesday.

Six foster children perished in a fire at a Waveland residence last Friday morning. The foster parents, their natural son, and a nine-month-old foster child survived the fire.

Haas has been involved directly and indirectly with the Welfare

Department for most of his life.

He has been a Youth Court judge for more than 20 years and was reared in a welfare-oriented family—his mother was county welfare director and his older sister was an employee of the department.

Haas said, "No doubt about it, this is the most tragic thing that has ever happened in Hancock County."

"In the foster home program, we try to place the children in a normal as possible family situation," the judge allowed.

Haas continued, "Maybe something good will come out of this great tragedy. I know some good has come out of it already, as some citizens are checking their smoke detectors, while others without them, are installing."

Bradley stated, "Due to the recent tragedy, even though it is not required by the Welfare Department, I have requested a fire inspection of all foster homes in Hancock County."

Foster homes are inspected by social workers before children are placed by the Welfare Department.

The fire departments in the county are cooperating in the checking of the foster homes, Bradley added.

Haas in reviewing the tragedy commented, "This is not a situation which just happened in one place, as foster homes are utilized throughout the nation."

"I cannot say the Welfare Department shouldn't review their requirements due to this tragedy. I know as a fact the Welfare Department has a problem getting foster parents," Haas said.

The judge continued, "Some of the people critical of the recent tragedy may want to come forward and offer their services to these needy children."

Bradley emphasized, "Our primary goal is to give a foster child the best possible care we can under the circumstances."

Foster children come from many areas of society, the officials indicated.

Foster children are in custody of the public authority, primarily under the jurisdiction of the Welfare

Department in the state of Mississippi, Haas reported.

A foster child is one without parents, a child with emotional or mental problems, or a child who has a special problem with which normal parents are unable to cope. You cannot sit down and just make a list of all the types of foster children, Haas allowed, saying abused children account for a large number placed in foster homes.

"Many times the children's parents are not at fault, they cannot help the circumstances which cause

House Bill allows Hancock code election

JACKSON — The Hancock County Board of Supervisors would be authorized to call an election on the issue of establishing a county building code under a bill approved by the Mississippi House of Representatives.

The legislation, introduced by Representative Walter Phillips of Bay St. Louis, had been recommended by the County Affairs Committee and the Committee on Local and Private Legislation. Phillips said the proposal was requested by local authorities.

"I am pleased to work with our county officials in getting this bill before the Legislature and happy to report it was passed by the House with no dissenting votes," Phillips said.

Under the bill, the Board of Supervisors would be empowered to establish a building code for the county if the proposal is approved by the voters.

In other action, the House of Representatives also approved a bill to allow Hancock County to hire a clerk to assist the chancery court clerk in ad valorem tax redemption duties including mailing, advertising, and tabulating transactions.

Bids on county schools' classroom construction project unexpectedly low

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Bids received this week from contractors to construct six new classrooms at Gulfview Elementary School were "surprisingly low."

"The market is very good," said Architect Fred Wagner.

"This same project three months ago would have been much more expensive," he added.

Hancock County School Board took five bids under consideration and is expected to award the contract Monday at a 6:30 p.m. meeting.

Bids on the base project which calls for a building with brick veneer on the front, steel panels on the sides and interior walls of steel studs and sheet rock ranged from $263,700 to $424,184.

The low bid was nearly $100,000 lower than anticipated construction costs of approximately $360,000.

Tilley Constructors and Engineers of Gulfport submitted the apparent low bid which included a completion time of 165 calendar days.

Cardinal Construction Company of Long Beach offered the high bid.

Other bidders included Beacon Contractors of Biloxi, $294,690 with completion in 120 calendar days; J. W. Puckett Company of Gulfport, $319,028 and 160 calendar days; and Arcon, Inc. of Florence, $319,360 and 150 calendar days.

There were several construction alternates to the bid including using vinyl on the floors instead of carpet, installing brick veneer all around the building and using concrete block interior walls.

The bids also included the cost for each construction alternate if the project was completed by Sept. 1.

Three of the bidders indicated that there would be little or no change in the cost for the early completion date.

During a discussion of the bids School Board Member Lynette Necaise questioned Wagner about the size of the classrooms.

She said her main concern was not that the area in the rooms exceeded the required amount but that two more classrooms were needed.

Superintendent Terrel Randolph told the board that with a total of eight new classrooms, all students in the Gulfview school area would be able to attend classes on the main campus.

Currently classes are being held in an old Clermont Harbor school building which does not have a cafeteria, requiring that students be transported to Gulfview for lunch.

Wagner said the classrooms were designed to be the same size as other classrooms in buildings throughout the school district.

He also said the proposed building was designed for additional classroom construction.

There was a brief discussion about the desirability of including the two extra classrooms in the kindergarten project but Board Member George Ladner said he would be against any delay.

SUPERVISOR HONORED

Hancock County Supervisor James Travirca was honored Monday on his 60th birthday at the regular meeting of the Hancock County Fair Association.

At the meeting, President Walter Turcotte reported that a date had not yet been settled for this year's fair but that plans were underway.

Turcotte also requested that members gather information on having the fair catalogue published.

Board dissension keeps uninsured pier closed

By DENA BISNETTE

The Uman Avenue Pier remains closed while county supervisors argue over insuring the facility.

Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca, in whose district the facility is located, has refused to reopen the pier despite a majority board vote.

"It's in my beat and I'm not going to let them reopen until we have an insurance policy like we had before," Travirca said Tuesday.

Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro, who introduced the motion that led to last Thursday's vote to reopen without insurance, said he may withdraw his motion at Monday's meeting if he and the rest of the board can not come to some type of agreement with Travirca.

The pier has been closed for several weeks because the county's liability insurance on the facility has been cancelled.

According to Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise, the cancellation occurred when the firm supplying the policy stopped offering liability coverage for municipalities.

Necaise was asked by the board to find a new insurance company, but despite working with about nine brokers he has found only one firm offering a policy on the pier.

That policy offered only $300,000 in liability coverage rather than the $500,000 in the old policy and excluded swimming and diving at a cost of $3,328 per year. The old policy cost $1,046 and covered swimming and diving.

Necaise said he is still trying to obtain insurance, but the only response he has had from any of the brokers since last Thursday has been one request for additional information about the facility.

The decision to refuse the single policy offered and reopen without insurance was made in Travirca's absence because he had left the meeting early to attend a meeting of South Mississippi Planning and Development District.

The vote was three for reopening to one against with the dissenting vote cast by Board President A.A. Keller.

The pier is supposed to be a county facility, but Travirca said that his district has paid all maintenance costs except for some repairs covered by Federal Emergency Management Agency funds obtained after the pier was damaged by hurricanes Elena and Juan.

Perniciaro had suggested placing additional warning signs on the pier and stenciling "No diving or swimming" onto the pier itself.

He explained that he had discussed the matter with Travirca before the board meeting and had brought up the matter because he had received numerous inquiries about the pier.

"He told me he felt the insurance should come out of the general county fund," Perniciaro explained.

"I told him that it would be fine to maintain the pier and pay the insurance out of the general county fund."

In addition, he disagreed with Travirca's contention that the pier has been maintained with Beat Five money.

"He has about $15,000 in repairs in it now but that's going to be reimbursed with federal money."

"If they don't want to share in the cost of upkeep on that thing, I don't think they should be saying whether it can be opened or closed," Travirca said.

"I think it should be a county pier

The flounder may not be a thing of beauty, but for good eating, it's hard to surpass. So I mused as I munched heartily on the flounder which Carol Surgi had caught just a couple of hours before.

Carol often shares her catch with me, and needless to say, it's always a treat for me - and for Peanut the cat as well, for I can't get by without giving him some!

And the flounder is so easy to eat - just gorge yourself on one side of it, lift out the whole bone formation with one swift turn of the wrist, then enjoy the delicious white, juicy meat of the other side.

One of the ways I like flounder best is simply and swiftly broiled just till it flakes to the touch of a fork, doused with melted butter and chopped parsley and dashes of pepper, as fresh flounder is so delicious cooked in this simple fashion that it's almost heresy to cover up that fresh, fresh flavor with sauces.

And, yet, I like flounder stuffed with crabmeat, I like it with an almond butter sauce, and so on. For a change, why not try a cucumber stuffing? Fish, cucumbers and lemon or lime go together very well, so, here's:

FLOUNDER WITH CUCUMBER STUFFING
1 flounder, (2½ to 3 lbs.)

4 Tbsp. butter or margarine
Several green onions, chopped
2 cups bread crumbs
1 diced, seeded cucumber
Lemon slices
Pepper, salt to your taste
Additional butter
White wine, optional

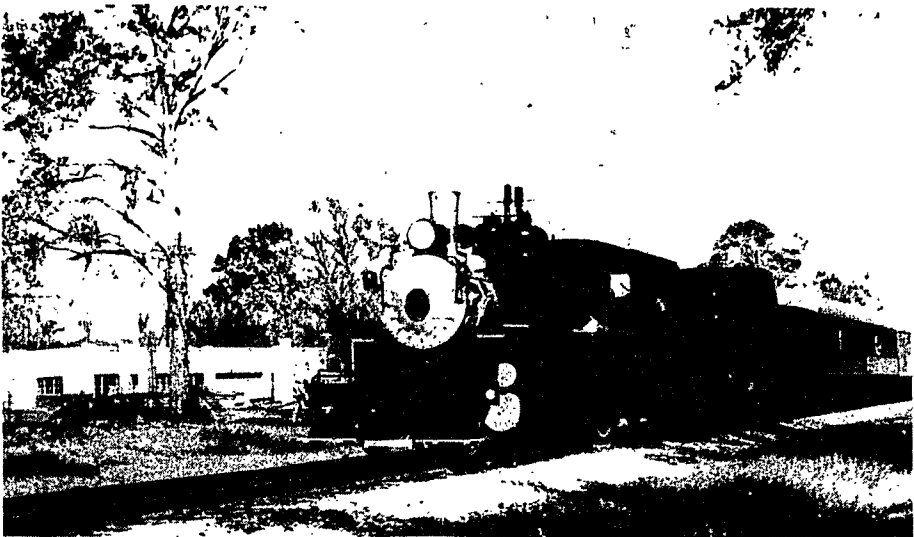

Heat the four tablespoons of butter or margarine in a heavy skillet, add the chopped green onions and cook over low heat until the onions soften. Add the bread crumbs and cucumber, and pepper and salt, and mix all together.

Press the stuffing mixture into the flounder, and place in a buttered baking pan. Dab a spoon or so of butter atop the fish, and place lemon slices atop also, and add a spoon or so of wine or water to the bottom of the pan.

Bake in a 400 degree oven for 20 to 30 minutes, or until the fish flakes to the fork. Add a little more wine or water to the pan if needed. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve to four flounder-eaters.

If you don't want to go to the trouble of dicing up a cucumber, but still want the cucumber tang, just make the stuffing without the cucumber. Slice the cucumber instead, saute the slices briefly in butter, and serve along with the flounder.

Last Saturday we had two people go out of their way to comment to us about the high weeds in The Cedar Rest Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

One was a widow who had trouble reaching the grave of her deceased husband, and the other was a son who went to clean the grave sites of his mother and father.

Cleanup in the cemetery began on Monday and should be completed as soon as possible, according to Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr.

In a conversation with him on Tuesday, he said the city will do its best to keep the grass and weeds in walk areas controlled. This is a continuous task, and the city is only able to afford a limited number of employees.

The Navy-NSTL Special Olympics Field Day is scheduled for Saturday, April 12 at the National Space Technology Laboratories.

The ceremonies will begin at 9:30 a.m. and should involve some 425 Special Olympians from Hancock, Harrison, Stone and Pearl River counties.

Events for the Special Olympics will include, softball, soccer, volleyball, frisbee, long-jump, 50-meter run, and wheelchair races.

I have had an opportunity of visiting NSTL for previous Special Olympics, and it is very heart warming to see the thrill experienced by the participants.

You may wish to sponsor a special athlete for $15. A sponsorship pays for a meal, medals, T-shirt, and other expenses for the athlete.

And you can also be a volunteer with an athlete if you would like.

Further information can be obtained by calling Wally Alston, coordinator, at 688-4367 at NSTL.

In a conversation with Alston on Wednesday, he stated the public is invited to view the games, just bring your own lunch.

All sponsors and volunteers will be provided lunch; others should brown bag.

Gnats still appear to be the topic of discussion around town.

Some folks are even complaining about them being in church.

We know they were pretty bad at the Easter Sunrise Services, but they did not dampen the spirits of the many folks who attended.

The pesky critters seem to have thrived on the mild winter, really increasing in numbers over previous years.

By Cong. Trent Lott

DEVELOPING OUR AGRICULTURAL MARKETS
While economic observers and many in Washington are railing against the United States' trade imbalance with our trading partners, but doing little about it, one agency of the federal government is quietly and successfully going about the job of developing markets for certain products overseas.

Through the efforts of the Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a unique public-private cooperative system has evolved to create markets abroad for U.S. agriculture and related industries. FAS is the public partner in the system. The private sector is represented by 60 so-called "cooperator" groups which work to develop markets in 130 countries.

It's no accident, therefore, that agricultural trade has shown a positive balance every year since 1960 and that exports worth nearly $35 billion now account for about a third of overall U.S. agricultural sales.

FAS has evolved to become the Secretary of Agriculture's representative abroad. The agency has responsibility for gathering and publishing most of the U.S. government statistics relating to foreign agriculture, for monitoring and development of U.S. trade policy relating to agriculture (in conjunction with the U.S. Trade Representative) and for market development activities.

In order for FAS to succeed in its market development activities, it has evolved a cooperator program to involve private sector agricultural interests in export market development. These cooperators, all private, non-profit organizations, promote the interest of the products or commodities they represent.

They include a number of products important to us in Mississippi, catfish, cotton, soybeans, feed grains and forest products.

The cooperator program for the individual products has in most cases proven to be a catalyst for the industry to do a better job in export market development. For example, the National Forest Products Association which serves South Mississippi became a cooperator in 1979. Before the cooperator program under FAS began, only two of the industry's sectors were promoting products overseas.

After five years in the program, 15 federal forest products associations have a coordinated program in 35 countries, and export promotion expenditures have increased 10 times.

Market development cooperators are constantly involved in the identification of market opportunities in different countries. They send experts to judge the market situation in individual countries, to examine current technology and business practices, to estimate market demand and to learn about the laws and regulations governing trade of the products of interest.

Because agricultural products, more than almost any other product, are subject to government intervention around the world, FAS concentrates on working with their target countries to ease trade and technical barriers to the export of U.S. farm products.

I am convinced that the federal government works best when it works in partnership with experts in business and local governments to achieve a common goal. The work of the Foreign Agricultural Service is a model of how much can be accomplished with a modest investment when the federal government stresses cooperation, rather than regulation.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—That there will be a new speaker of the Mississippi House next term is no longer a matter of doubt among the House membership. But you can hardly get more than a handful of House members to agree now on the favorite to become Buddie Newman's successor.

Not only is the wily veteran Newman on the way out, but the widespread belief around the Capitol is that the tightly-knit palace guard system which was begun by the late Speaker Walter Sillers nearly a half-century ago and ably perpetuated by Newman, is also at an end.

Consequently, no matter if Newman and his closest lieutenant, Rep. H. L. Sonny Merideth of Greenville, tried to hand-pick anyone among the younger members to carry on the old system, it will not succeed.

Merideth, who a decade or so ago was regarded as a favorite of rebels to break up the old guard domination in the House, is now considered part of the system that must be changed.

It appears certain the next speaker will not come from the Delta, the area which has controlled the post 36 of the last 42 years.

Somewhat poetically, the Delta, which used to keep white planter-politician types in the House, now finds itself with a high proportion of black lawmakers.

The two candidates Newman-Merideth seem to be grooming for the speakership, Reps. Charlie Williams of Senatobia and Will Green Poindexter of Inverness, both would continue the Delta philosophy in the post, but neither is given much chance of being in contention to succeed Newman.

Two other areas—Jackson and the Gulf Coast—may also be pretty much written off as a possibility to furnish the next speaker because of the lingering suspicion among rural members of giving more power to a metropolitan area.

This factor is one of the several that seems to have downgraded Rep. Jim Simpson of Long Beach, the persuasive, seasoned veteran who has often been the clean-up hitter in floor battles on major legislation.

Simpson has had a close alliance with Newman over the years, and even though it became a bit strained back in 1980 when Simpson was bypassed for the Ways and Means chairmanship that went to Merideth, the imposing coastman has come back snugly in the Newman fold.

Simpson has alienated Northeast Mississippi lawmakers this session by opposing earmarking to that area the leftover Tenn-Tom Waterway bridge funds. He also engendered resentment from many others by sitting on resolutions in his Rules Committee to revive many important bills left hanging on the House calendar in mid-February after the filibuster by black members.

Some House members believe the next speaker will come from Northeast Mississippi because of the strong feeling by lawmakers in that area that their region has not been treated fairly in the distribution of legislative powers or the benefits of state government in the 'Delta era.'

Stubby Rep. Ed Perry of Oxford, the well-liked chairman of the House Appropriations committee, is believed to have the best following from the Northeast section, but his identity as a 'Newman man' may be fatal. Another obstacle for Perry is his identity with Ole Miss, an amazingly important factor among lawmakers partial to other educational institutions.

The surprise of the 1986 session has been the recognition Newman-Merideth forces have given 29-year old Rep. Mike Mills of Aberdeen as the spokesman for a substantial number of House members outside the power structure in dealing with the budget crisis.

Mills became spokesman for a democratically selected group which registered its dissatisfaction with the leadership's budget approach, and wound up being treated with uncommon respect by Newman.

Since the gangly and drawing Mills has been one of the key figures in the original 'House 29' which tried to democratize House rules back in 1984, his new prominence has made him a good dark horse in the speakership picture. Some from his area, however, contend his youth and some jealousies resulting from Mills' media exposure, weaken his regional base.

Another Northeast Mississippi contender is Rep. Ralph Doxey of Holly Springs, a three-term veteran who is considered a solid conservative, while also an independent thinker. Doxey was once identified rather closely with the Newman-Merideth forces, but he has broken with them enough to no longer be considered a team player.

The most conservative forces in the House are believed supporting Rep. Mike Nipper of Grenada. Nipper is highly regarded by most members for his knowledge of banking and business law and his low-keyed straight-forward manner.

If there is a favorite at the moment in the next speakership derby, it is tall, nice-looking Rep. Terrell Stubbs of Mendenhall, who is the only member openly campaigning for the job. Stubbs had been one of the Newman favorites until three years ago when the Simpson countian jumped ship and took an independent course.

Now Stubbs has developed a

Recently we brought our children to the Easter Egg Hunt in Waveland and nothing was free.

Chances on cheap little eggs - paper filled eggs - 10 cents.

To enter the hunt, 50 cents per child.

It was badly handled and we paid $5 and received 3 eggs - each child received an egg.

Could you let us know why the charge - I understood things (most) were donated along with money from big clubs over in Waveland.

STAR HALL OF FAME— A MEASURE OF EXCELLENCE

How do you measure excellence in the classroom?

There is a way in Mississippi. You ask the students.

If students continue, over a period of time, to single out the same teachers for special recognition, you can be sure those teachers are effective in the classroom.

In Mississippi, teachers so recognized are called Star Teachers. The special recognition comes through the Mississippi Economic Council-sponsored Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition (Star) Program.

The program is designed to recognize and honor outstanding high school scholars and their teachers. Star Teachers are selected by Star Students; that is, each Star Student honors one teacher who has contributed most to that student's classroom achievements.

The teacher so honored may be a high school teacher, a junior high teacher, or an elementary teacher.

Now the Council, with the support of the foundation of the First Mississippi Corporation, has found another way to recognize excellence among teachers.

A Star Hall of Fame has been created through which teachers selected as Star Teachers for ten years or more are given "Hall of Fame" recognition and special scholarship awards.

Three Mississippi school teachers were inducted into the Star Hall of Fame in 1985, the first year of this special award of excellence. This year, two more teachers are being inducted into the Hall of Fame. They are Mary Kathryn Sims of Bay Springs High School and Robert Henley of Live Oak Academy in Moss Point. They will be inducted into the Star Hall of Fame at the Annual Membership Meeting of the Mississippi Economic Council on Thursday, April 17, in Jackson.

Just another way of saying "thank you" to good teachers and another way of measuring excellence in the classroom.

Legislative Update - Week of March 24

By Rosa Lee H. Jones

The budget battle hit the floor during the week, as first the House and then the Senate came up with a plan to ease the state's fiscal crisis.

The House on Wednesday passed a massive $107 million budget-cutting and revenue-raising plan.

Included in the bill are provisions authorizing a state lottery and parimutuel betting, early retirement and a hiring freeze for state employees and closing state parks.

When the juggernaut bill surfaced in the Senate the next day, the hiring freeze, lottery and parimutuel betting were immediately trimmed, but a tax increase was added.

The Senate Rule Committee also said no to the House's plan.

"But rank and file senators rose up to reject their leaders' plan Friday morning and decided by a one vote margin to consider the original House plan, including the extended session."

Both houses are wrestling with ways to fund state government in the face of a $114 million budget shortfall for fiscal year 1987, which begins in July. Gov. Bill Allain has vowed to veto any tax increase.

The Senate's tax increase would levy an additional penny a pack on cigarettes, but would open the door to consider hikes in corporate and personal income taxes and utility and sales taxes. The House has said it will not buy any tax increase this year.

Pal Jones, a former Hinds County supervisor and convicted embezzler, was given back the right to vote by the House on Thursday.

The House first accepted a Senate plan requiring parental consent for a minor's abortion, then reconsidered that action on Thursday.

The House has agreed to a bill that calls for only parental notification prior to the operation. The two houses will attempt to work out their differences in a conference committee.

SENATE VOTING RECORDS

Week ending March 28

The Senate Rules Committee presented a heavily amended version of the massive House resolution calling for spending cuts. The Senate rejected their amendments which allows them to consider the bill as it came from the House. The vote was 25 yeas to accept the amended version to 27 nays. Taylor - Nay, Smith (47) - Nay.

HOUSE VOTING RECORDS

Through March 28

The following votes are on amendments to a massive House bill that would suspend the rules and allow various options for trimming state operating costs to come up for a vote.

This amendment would delete a provision in the resolution that would have lowered the teacher-student ratios in public schools. It was defeated. Yea - 70, Nay - 51, Absent - 1, Phillips - Nay.

This amendment would lower the personal income tax exemptions. It was defeated. Yea - 32, Nay - 88, Absent - 2, Phillips - Nay.

This amendment would delay for one year the implementation of the kindergarten program. It failed. Yea - 28, Nay - 90, Absent - 4, Phillips - Yea.

This vote is the final passage of the resolution that included $107.4 million budget cuts. It also included a three-week extension of the legislative session. Yea - 89, Nay - 30, Absent - 3, Phillips - Nay.

Earlier in the session the House passed a bill requiring parental notification for abortions performed on minors. The Senate version required parental consent. When it came back to the House, they first approved the Senate version. On Thursday, they voted to reconsider their earlier action. (This vote is recorded below.) This paved the way for a conference with the Senate on the bill. For reconsideration - 69, Against - 43, Absent - 10, Phillips - Yea.

This resolution would allow a lottery bill to be introduced. It required 78 (2/3) for passage. It passed. Yea - 81, Nay - 35, Paired - 4, Absent - 2, Phillips - Yea.

This bill restored the right to vote to former Hinds County supervisor Pal Jones. Yea - 96, Nay - 15, Absent - 7, Present - 4, Phillips - Yea.

National Guard award goes to Gulf Coast recruiter

Sergeant First Class Jimmie Hoda of Bay St. Louis has earned the Mississippi Army National Guard Chief's 50 Award, the Guard's most prestigious recruiting honor, for enlisting 71 new soldiers during 1985.

The Biloxi-based recruiter, supporting the 138th Supply and Service Battalion, has always been in contention for the award since joining the Full-Time Recruiter Force in April 1980.

"When I first came on and heard about the award, I was sure one day I would win it," Hoda said.

During the ensuing six years Hoda achieved milestones few others can claim. He has missed mission only once, in October 1984, when the recruiting force was challenged with the introduction of the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB) testing for all Guard enlistees.

And, when the Buddy Platoon departs for basic training this summer at Fort Jackson, S.C., 23 of the 60 young men will be waving to their recruiter, Jimmie Hoda.

In December, 1985, Hoda, along with the top recruiters from across the nation, was honored in Washington, D.C. as Mississippi's most prolific producer.

Lieutenant General Emmett H. "Mickey" Walker, chief of the National Guard Bureau and a former assistant adjutant general of the Mississippi National Guard, presented the award.

The award, the trip to Washington and the personal satisfaction the achievement has brought Hoda have convinced him of one attainable fact: he wants to win it again. With his simple formula for recruiting he believes he can. "I don't think any recruiter can survive without unit support. At the last drill, I picked up five leads."

"I've put over 400 people in the Guard and I take pride in knowing that I've never misled any of these kids. They're just as important as anyone in the unit the day they arrive. They have a role in making that unit operate."

"I really enjoy working with these kids."

Hoda's territory includes Biloxi, Ocean Springs, Bay St. Louis, Poplarville and Richton. The 30-year veteran tries to visit each unit during drill weekends, combing the members for possible leads. "The unit can be as good or bad as these people want it to be. They know this, so they try to find the best for their unit."

Hoda joined the Mississippi Army National Guard in 1955 at the age of 15. He left the Guard three years later for active duty with the US Air Force. Prior to returning to Mississippi and the Guard, he served as a drill instructor at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Hoda has not been alone in his recruiting efforts. He credits his wife of 25 years, Susan, with supporting him throughout his diverse military career.

"She is my partner. She is just super the way she puts up with the demands of this job."

Hoda relates a story of his leaving at 3 a.m. to take an enlistee to New Orleans for a physical, driving to Biloxi, then to Hattiesburg to meet another prospect and arriving back home at 11:45 p.m.

"She got up to make sure I had something to eat before going to bed," Hoda said. "She knows I love my job, I love my unit, I love the military. She also knows how much I love her." The Hodas have two sons.

"I'm not looking forward to the day I can't put on my uniform and come to work."

The Mississippi Army National Guard is not looking forward to that day, either.

Amnesty period to precede collection of overdue books

Get ready to clean out closets, look under beds and search car trunks for overdue library books and other materials. The Hancock County Library System Board of Trustees is making an offer they hope many people will find hard to refuse.

The board is declaring a one-time-only forgiveness week on long overdue books during National Library Week, April 6-13. Persons with past due items will be able to return the books with no fees imposed and no questions asked.

After that, however, libraries in Hancock County will be taking a firmer stand on the overdue materials problem.

On May 1, the library board will contract with a library consulting firm which specializes in the recovery of past due library materials from persons who repeatedly ignore notices, statements, and phone calls—or who have moved out of town.

According to library officials, more than $30,000 worth of books and other materials are overdue and in the hands of a relatively small group of people.

"The majority of our library users return books on time or within a reasonable period after the due date and pay the overdue processing fee," said Prima Wusnack, library system director.

However, approximately 3,000 people have borrowed materials and failed to return them or pay processing fees over the years.

"Entire subject areas of the library's book collection have been wiped out because of the problem," she notes.

One reason some people may not return overdue books is the fear that they will owe an exorbitant fee. However, libraries in Hancock County never charge more than $2 in fees per item no matter how past due they may be and even that will be eliminated during April 6-13.

Although the library depends on overdue processing fees to help defray the costs of staff time, postage and supplies expended to notify delinquent borrowers in an attempt to recover books, the library board feels that the loss of fee revenue during amnesty week would be more than compensated if overdue materials are returned.

The cost of putting each book on the shelf for public use—which includes staff time and clerical supplies—is more than $30, according to a national survey by an American booksellers association. So when books are not returned the entire library budget is affected, not just the book budget.

For several months, the library system board of trustees has considered strategies for dealing with the growing loss of library materials. Although state law makes it a crime to steal, deface or retain library materials, the board felt that prosecution was not the answer at this time.

The board's decision to utilize a consulting firm which specializes in the recovery of overdue books was based on the agency's success rate with other libraries as well as the cost factor.

Use of the agency will reduce costs, since local money will not be spent on repeated notices, bills, letters, and phone calls made by library staff. The cost of the collection agency will be passed on only to the person retaining books—not to other library users.

In addition, a library trustee noted, using the firm will remove the burden of debt collection from library staff members and free them to provide public service assistance to library users.

Before turning an account over to the agency, individuals will be sent a courtesy reminder that they have overdue materials or fees. The individual will have two weeks to settle his account; notify the library if he feels an error has been made or make arrangements to return the books and pay the fee over a period of time.

If no response is received, a statement for the cost of the items plus overdue processing fees will be sent as a notification that the account will be turned over to the collection agency.

An additional overdue processing fee will be assessed for each account turned over to the agency.

"We hope that it will not be necessary to use the library collection agency," said Wusnack. "By offering this one-time-only amnesty week, anyone having overdue books can settle his account and reinstate his borrowing privileges."

Persons wanting to verify the status of a library account should call the headquarters library at 467-5282; the Kiln Library at 255-1724; or the Waveland Library 467-9240.

Man shoots at deputies, no charges filed

BY DENA BISNETTE

No charges have been filed in connection with a Tuesday night incident in which a man shot at five Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson said an ongoing investigation may lead to charges against the man, who lives along US-90 west of Waveland.

"We do know who did the shooting and we're trying to determine if it was intentional," Peterson said Wednesday.

According to Deputy Matt Karl, one of the five involved in the incident, the officers were trailing a suspect in a wooded area when the shooting occurred.

Others present included Carlos Lozano, Tommy Powell, Bill Pepperman and Sam Necaise.

He said the sheriff's office had received a call concerning an attempted theft of a boat motor and had been told that the suspect had fled on foot.

The deputies who responded to the call contacted Lozano to bring his tracking dog to the scene and were searching the woods off Lakeshore Road and US-90 when the firing began.

"Carlos and his dog were in the woods, right in the middle of it. Two deputies were in there with him and some were standing by Lakeshore Road," Karl said. "You could hear the bullets coming across the road."

"I was glad the trees were so thick. The bullets were ricocheting all over the place."

Peterson said the deputies contacted the sheriff's office, which telephoned the man doing the shooting and notified him that the people in the woods behind his property were law enforcement officers.

Karl said that the man contended that he believed he had been snooted at thieves or potential thieves. He told investigators he had used a .22 automatic to fire 18 rounds at the deputies.

No one was injured in the incident. Glen Strong is in charge of the investigation.

Cause of death cited as smoke inhalation

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The cause of death of six foster children last Friday was attributed to smoke inhalation.

Hancock Coroner Harold Stiglet said, "Smoke inhalation is the cause of death to the six young children involved in last Friday's tragedy Dr. Thomas Bennett, state medical examiner, reported Tuesday."

The foster parents, Larry and Sandra Giveans, their 14-year-old natural son Robbie, and a 9-month-old foster child identified as Christina escaped the blaze which caused heavy damage to the rear of the residence located on Sears Avenue in Waveland.

Larry Giveans, who was injured by broken glass trying to reach the youngsters underwent surgery for a severed artery and tendon of his right wrist, his wife was treated for shock, and their son for minor burns. The 9-month-old foster child reportedly suffered no injury.

The six children who perished are, Scottie Pesta, 21 months; Robert J. Scelson Jr., two years-seven months; brothers Terrance Skinner, four years-eight months; and Jonathan Skinner, three years-eight months; sisters Rosemarie Smith, three years-five months, and Susan Smith, 18 months.

Identification has been made by Dr. Bennett, and the remains of three of the children were returned to Edmond Fahey Funeral Home, and three to Riemann Funeral Home on Tuesday afternoon, Stiglet stated.

News Brief

SCIENCE AND FICTION

The worlds of science fiction and science fact will come together in spectacular displays and out-of-this-world programs at CoastCon IX Friday and Saturday at the Coast Coliseum Convention Center in Biloxi.

Registration tables will be set up at the convention center, where badges admitting members to all events will be issued. Fees for participation in some games will be charged.

Three Bay St. Louis area residents were injured in an accident March 17 on Interstate 10 involving a tractor-trailer rig and a van.

Louise Wortmann, 63, of Shoreline Park, driver of the van, was taken to Gulfport Memorial Hospital where she was admitted for observation but released the following day.

Her passengers, Letha Carpenter, 19, and Michael Carpenter, 2, both of Shoreline Park, were also taken to the Gulfport hospital where they were treated and released.

Both the Wortmann's van and a pickup she was towing were reportedly totaled in the accident.

Driver of the tractor-trailer rig, Michael Cox, 29, of Mobile, Ala., was not injured in the incident.

Mississippi State Trooper David Kenny is in charge of the investigation.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, until 10:00 a.m. April 23, 1986, and shortly thereafter publicly opened for:

Base repair, leveling and hot bituminous plant mix resurfacing of portions of Esplanade and Felicity Streets in Hancock County.

Payment for the work may be made from Revenue Sharing Funds; therefore, all conditions in the proposal and all of those applicable to the expenditure of Revenue Sharing Funds shall be complied with.

The award, if made, will be made to the lowest qualified bidder on the basis of the published quantities.

Plans and Specifications are on file in the offices of the Hancock County Chancery Clerk and Lawrence L. Seal, County Engineer, 113 Telly Road, Piquette, Mississippi. Plans and proposals may be secured upon payment of $20.00, which is not refundable.

Certified check or bid bond for five percent (5%) of all total bid payable to Hancock County must accompany each proposal.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Certified check or bid bond will be returned immediately to unsuccessful bidders. Bidders are hereby notified that any proposal accompanied by letters qualifying in any manner the condition under which the proposal is tendered will be considered and irregular bid and such proposals will not be considered in making the award.

A performance bond, or equal, in the full amount of the contract will be required of the successful bidder. In lieu of a performance bond the successful bidder may post with the Board of Supervisors, the full amount of the bid, in cash or its equivalent, conditioned for the prompt, proper and efficient performance of the contract; said cash or its equivalent to be held until the successful completion of the project.

The contractors will be required to pay wages in accordance with and meet other conditions of the Davis-Bacon Act, and to meet conditions of employment under applicable laws. Attention is called to the fact that contracts exceeding $25,000 require contractors to be licensed under applicable laws of the State of Mississippi and have a certificate of responsibility.

WHEREAS, the council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, at a public meeting held in City Hall on March 18, 1986, considered a Resolution and Petition of the Board of Trustees of the Municipal Separate School District of the City of Bay St. Louis, and filed with the City Clerk of said City on March 20, requesting the Mayor and City Council of the City of Bay St. Louis to borrow the sum of $350,000 to be used for the building, furnishing, designing, equipping, and providing necessary water, lights, heating, air condition, and restroom facilities for eight (8) kindergarten classrooms at Waveland Elementary School and for the purchasing of three (3) school bus chassis for the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District, and to issue notes or certificates of indebtedness bearing interest not to exceed 6 percent per annum, to be paid annually, and to be paid from certain funds provided by the Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, as provided in Section 37-59-101 through Section 37-59-115 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated and all amendments thereto; said indebtedness to be evidenced by short term notes or certificates of indebtedness to mature in a period of not to exceed five (5) years from date of issuance; and

WHEREAS, it is the intention of the Mayor and Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, to authorize the borrowing of said money as requested and to issue negotiable notes or certificates of indebtedness of the Municipal Separate School District of the City of Bay St. Louis as evidence of same, the amount of said indebtedness to be incurred being THREE HUNDRED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($350,000) for the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District, NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, that notice be given to the qualified electors of the City of Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District by publishing this Resolution once each week for two (2) consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District and unless a petition requesting that an election be called on the question of incurring said indebtedness, signed by not less than twenty percent (20%) of the qualified electors of the school district, is filed with the city of Bay St. Louis on or before May 06, 1986, the City of Bay St. Louis will, at its regular meeting on May 06, 1986, adopt a Resolution giving final approval to the borrowing of said money and shall authorize the issuance of negotiable notes or certificates of indebtedness of the School District as evidence thereof in accordance with the provisions of Section 37-59-101 to 37-59-115, inclusive, Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated and all amendments thereto, for the purposes set out in this Resolution.

After being reduced to writing, the foregoing Resolution was read and considered, section by section, and then as a whole, whereupon Councilmember Thriftley, moved for its adoption and after a second by Councilmember Johnson, the following roll call vote was had:

Voting Yes: Councilmembers Thriftley, Johnson, Coward, Wilkerson and Seymour
Voting Nay: None

Whereupon President Seymour declared the foregoing Resolution adopted unanimously, by the Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, this 18th day of March, 1986.

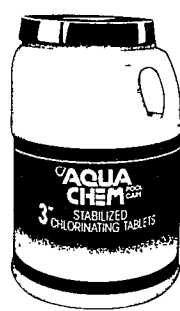

SO CERTIFIED, by me on this the 18th day of March, 1986.

YOUR REACTIONS TO ADVERTISING ARE TABULATED BY HIGHLY SOPHISTICATED EQUIPMENT.

Every time you shop, you have the opportunity to express your exact feelings about advertising. Not just by talking about them. But by putting your money where your mouth is.

Look at it this way. Whenever you go to the store, you make a cartload of buying decisions. And you're free to base those decisions on anything you choose. Including the advertising you've seen.

If you like a product's advertising—if you find it informative, honest and interesting—we suggest that you buy.

If you don't like the advertising—if it's misleading, tasteless or just plain boring—we suggest that you not buy.

In effect, you'll be casting your vote at the cash register. And by doing so, you'll be helping us create better advertising. More interesting advertising. More effective advertising. More tasteful advertising.

In short, the kind of advertising you've told us you want.

Some people may claim that the advertising industry doesn't care about your opinions.

But when you consider the facts, that argument just doesn't ring true.

SOCCER ACTION—J. Ross Bonura, center, of Paul Montjoy's Under 14 BAYS II team kicks off while Kevin Edwards, left, and goalie Randy Jones await the action to begin.

Nine soccer teams head for district play

Bay Area Youth Soccer completed the spring season with the following teams winning the right to represent the league in district play:

Under-8 — McDonald Realty, first place; Coca-Cola, second place.

Under-10 — Take-One Video, first place; Dental Health Services, second place.

Under-12 — Lolacano's Health Club, first place; CPC Design/Build, second place.

Under-14 — Domino's Destroyers, first place; BAYS II, second place.

Under-16 — Gulf Coast Waste, first place.

Results of late season play include:

Under-8 (Waveland Civic Field)

Coca-Cola defeated Rotary Club 2-1 to finish the season with a 9-1 record. Richard Flowers, Rotary coach, cited Rick Beacham, most improved player for the season, and Robbie Lumpkin, most valuable player for the season.

For the game, Flowers named Jeff Dougher, best defensive player and Robbie Lumpkin, best offensive player. Flowers thanked "the entire team for excellent offensive effort."

Bernard Tusa, Coca-Cola coach, thanked the players and parents for their support during the year.

McDonald's Realty topped American Legion Post No. 77 4-0.

Nell Frisbie, Inc. defeated Pat's Chevron 4-0.

Under-10 (Bay High Field)

Take-One Video defeated Gentz Men's Wear to finish the season undefeated and unscored upon. Coach Bernard Tusa, Take-One Video, thanked his players, parents, and sponsor for their support during the season.

Marco Builders defeated Gateway Body Shop.

Dental Health Services topped Hancock General Hospital 5-1.

Under-12 (Waveland Elementary Field)

CPC Design/Build tied Alcan Cable 0-0. Curtis Colson, CPC Coach, named the following players: Mickey Quinlan, most outstanding player of the season; Martin Braud, most outstanding fullback for season; and James Reso, most improved player for season.

Colson commented the team is headed for district play in high spirits.

He thanked parents, fans and players for 'outstanding effort' this year.

Lolacano's Health Club played to a scoreless tie against Bernard Construction.

Under-14 (St. Augustine Seminary Field)

On Saturday, March 22, Domino's

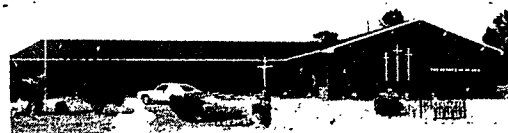

Destroyers defeated Biloxi Bradford-O'Keefe 3-0. Destroyer Coach Stan Weidman cited Brandon Wheeler, Sandy Parker, and Scott Barnes for outstanding play.

On Sunday, March 23, Domino's topped BAYS II with a score 3-1. Weidman named Scott Barnes most outstanding player for his scoring of all 3 goals.

Local businesses bearing foster child burial costs

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Funeral homes, florists, an airline, and a monument company are helping bear burial costs for six foster children who perished in a Waveland fire last week.

David Riemann of Riemann Funeral Homes said on Wednesday he made special arrangements with Eastern Airlines to fly the remains of two children to Greenville, S.C. and a third to Virginia Beach, Va.

"We are transporting the remains of the youngsters to Mobile Airport, and the transportation will be without a cost to the parents," Riemann said.

Services for all six of the deceased will be at no cost to the families, according to executives of Riemann Funeral Home and Edmond Fahey Funeral Home.

Edmond Fahey stated, "The Edmond Fahey Funeral Home is providing services for the three children who will be buried here at no cost to the families."

A spokesman for Hancock Monument said his company will provide a free monument for the three fire victims buried here.

Special free floral arrangements for the three tots with local burial services will be provided by Adams' Lorraine Flowers, Evergreen Nursery, and Earline's Flower Cottage, Hancock Coronor Harold Stiglet reported.

their children to be placed in a foster home," Haas stated.

Judge Haas continued, "The Welfare Department is designated by law to continue to look after the child's welfare after they leave the court. In many instances the Welfare Department involves itself in a case by performing certain investigations after a possible child neglect or abuse has been reported to them by a citizen, while others comes from the Hancock County sheriff, Bay St. Louis and Waveland police departments."

"Doctors have the duty to report suspected child abuse or neglect as well as all good citizens," Haas said.

Bradley gave a portion of the code under which the directive for the reporting of an abused or neglected child is authorized:

"Any attorney, physician, dentist, intern, resident, nurse, psychologist, teacher, social worker, school principal, child care giver, minister, law enforcement officer, or any other person having reasonable cause to suspect that a child brought to him or coming before him for examination, care or treatment, or of whom he has knowledge through observation is a neglected child or an abused child shall cause an oral report to be made immediately by telephone or otherwise and followed as soon thereafter as possible by writing to the Department of Welfare..."

to start with," he added.

"It's going to be closed until we have some insurance. That's going to be a half-day's work for me and two of my men to remove the barricade and nobody's going to do it except Jimmy Travira," Travira said.

"I could care less what Jimmy says about it. I just feel the pier should be reopened," Pernicaro said.

"I'll be glad to withdraw my motion if he doesn't have the pier reopened by Monday's meeting."

He added that he feels that board meetings come before other matters and thinks Travira should have remained present until the matter of the pier was settled.

Travira said he feels that the board should have delayed action on the pier until he was present.

He also felt a vote diverting part of the county's seawall tax funds from port and harbor bonds back to beachfront maintenance should not have been taken in his absence.

"I don't see us repaying Waveland $20,000 on Beach Road. If part of my road was damaged, I would be responsible for it," the supervisor said.

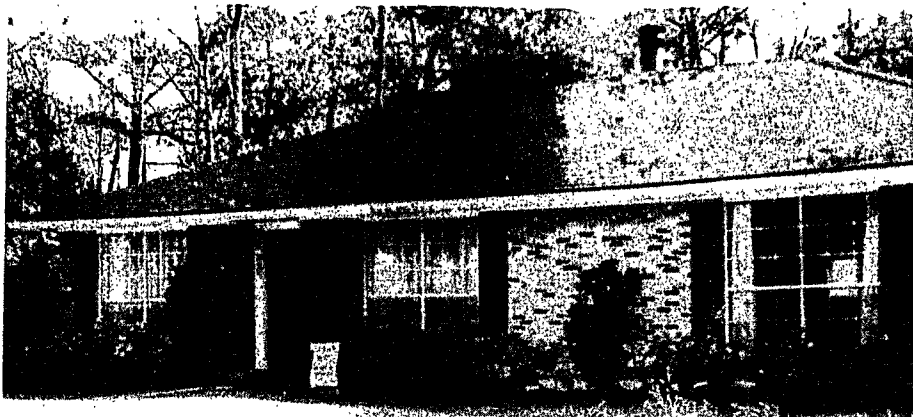

He called the vote "a political move by the three who voted for it," who included Pernicaro, Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge and Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner.

The vote also allocated $34,000 for reimbursement of hurricane repair costs to the general county fund and $77,000 in matching funds for the first year of a two-year beachfront protection and repair study by the US Army Corps of Engineers.

Humane Society April meeting date changed

Date of the April meeting of Hancock County Humane Society has been changed from second Sunday to Monday, April 7, at Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue, 7 p.m.

"We welcome all members and interested persons," said Jean Potter, society president.

City awaits senate vote to sell slot machines

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Bay St. Louis city officials are one step closer from being able to sell 24 slot machines seized in January during a gambling raid.

A local and private bill which would allow the sale of the machines was passed in the Mississippi House of Representatives Friday unanimously.

Hancock County Senator Gene Taylor said he expected the bill to be put to a vote in the senate later this week.

The bill passed through the local and private committee earlier this week but got hung up in the judiciary committee, Taylor said.

"There is a question about the constitutionality of the bill," he said.

Taylor said although it is unconstitutional for a private individual or company to sell the machines, it probably is not the same when a municipality is the seller.

"The judiciary is seeking an opinion from the Attorney General's office at this time," he added.

Taylor said predicting the outcome of the Senate's vote was difficult because of the strong anti-gambling segment but the strong vote of the House may influence the legislators.

Bay Mayor Victor Franckiewicz said he was more optimistic than ever that the city would be able to sell the machines.

"I am really pleased that a lot of emotionalism was not involved in the vote and that it was passed in the House in such a business-like manner," he added.

Representative Walter James Phillips did a real good job of getting it through and Taylor is really hustling to get in passed in the Senate, he said.

"I feel Taylor and Phillips really took the bull by the horns and appealed logically to their fellow legislators," Councilman James Thriffley said.

"The vote of the legislators reflects their attitude in using seized goods to foster the welfare of the public through this sale and the ultimate contribution to local funds," he added.

Franckiewicz said according to the Nevada Gaming Commission, the machines could sell for $300 to $2,000 each depending on their conditions.

The machines were seized Jan. 24 in gambling raids at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3253 and the Disabled American Veterans Post 50.

Agencies continue investigation into origin of foster home fire

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn, acting as spokesman for all the agencies investigating the origin of a fire in which six foster children were killed Friday, said late Wednesday, "we have no new information."

Dorn said, "There are a lot of agencies involved in this investigation. The main report we are awaiting is the result from samples sent to the Crime Lab in Jackson for analysis."

The matter is being investigated by Waveland police, Waveland Fire Department, the Hancock County fire marshal, state fire marshal, Hancock County prosecutor, District Attorney, Department of Welfare, and Federal Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms agents.

Waveland to ban steel jaw traps

By DENA BISNETTE
The Waveland Board of Aldermen has approved an ordinance prohibiting the use of steel jaw traps in the city.

The ordinance was proposed by C.J. Dunestre Jr. of the Hancock County Animal Commission and was approved at Tuesday's meeting of the board of aldermen.

The city will advertise its intent to make the ordinance effective and if no objections are received, the effective date will be 30 days from the date of the first advertisement.

The use of the traps will be prohibited within the city limits, but merchants in Waveland will not be prohibited from selling the traps for use outside the city.

The board also accepted a proposal from Ward Four Alderman Herman Yarbrough setting fines for violation of the ordinance at $50 per trap for the first offense and $100 per trap for the second offense.

In addition, Board Attorney Lucien Gex is looking into a proposal by Ward Three Alderman Louis Smolensky, who requested that the city dog warden be authorized to ticket violators.

Presently, only city law enforcement officers may enforce the ordinance.

According to Mayor John Longo Jr., several cities along the Gulf Coast have adopted or propose bans on steel jaw traps after receiving complaints of injuries to pets.

In other business, the board: —Approved several Waveland Zoning Board recommendations for variances;

—Approved a request from the Hancock County Exchange Club for proclamation of April as Child Abuse Prevention Month; and —Approved advertising for preparation of a Community Development Block Grant.

The board meets again at 7:30 p.m. April 16.

Krewe seeking royalty aspirants

Persons wishing to participate as king and queen contestants for the 1987 Krewe of Real People Coronation Ball and Mardi Gras Parade should call 467-5317 or 467-0470, or contact any KORP member by Monday.

KORP will conduct its first meeting of 1986 on Monday at 7 p.m.

at the residence of Mrs. Evelyn Curry.

Election of officers, new membership, and KORP activities for the coming year will be discussed.

All members are urged to attend, said Krewe President Lonnie Bradley.

Wagner.....CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

Wagner suggested that the board talk to the successful bidder for the six-classroom project and inquire about the cost and finishing date for an additional two classrooms.

Following this discussion Wagner addressed those gathered at the meeting about the cost of the classrooms.

There has been much discussion that the school board is wasting a lot of money on this project, he said.

"There is nothing extravagant about the building, it is very simple and utilitarian," he said.

Wagner added that based on the bids, the building could be constructed for about $34-35 per square foot.

However if the bids had been as high as estimated, the construction would have been nearly $45 per square foot.

Also at the meeting Randolph reported that the district would probably not be receiving funds from the State Educational Finance Commission.

The board had requested $117,053 from the commission as a grant to aid in the construction costs of the project.

Randolph said although the district had $592,532 accredited to its account with the EFEC, no funds had been allocated to the commission recently and that there was simply not any money available.

PROMOTION—The Department of the Army, U.S. Army Reserve Personnel Center has notified Maj. Henry J. Cook III of his selection for promotion to the rank of Lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve. Maj. Cook is a Special Forces (Green Beret) officer assigned to the U.S. Army First Special Operations Command (Pacific) where he serves in reserve status as a special operations plans officer. Maj. Cook is now awaiting Senate confirmation of his promotion which is expected in April. He is a Bay St. Louis attorney and has served as a Special Forces (Green Beret) soldier, active and reserve since 1959.

Silver Tea set at Havenwood for April 9

The ladies of Christ Episcopal Church will host a Silver Tea Wednesday, April 9, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The setting for the tea will be Havenwood, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. Terry Markell of Waveland.

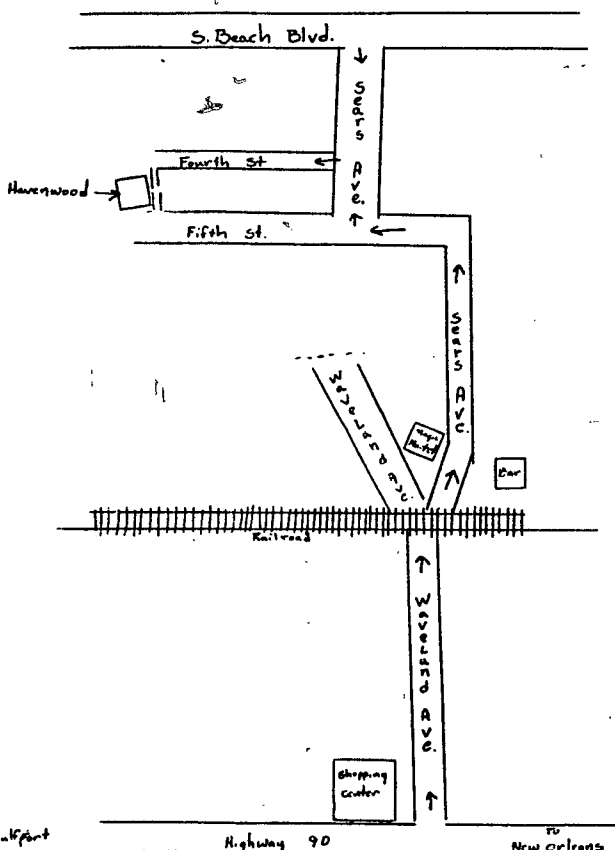

Havenwood was built in 1985 by Carl Heitzman and was designed by Bay St. Louis architect Michael Reeves.

According to Mrs. Markell, the house is designed to be reminiscent of Gulf Coast raised cottages with wide galleries and is set back among oak trees in a large yard.

The home contains contemporary features including oval transom atrium doors leading to its front galleries and custom designed features including a cathedral ceiling and curved display cases in its living room.

The living room also features a hand-made mantel of white cedar and yew on cypress built by Peter McCarthy of Pass Christian and decorated with carved seashells.

Havenwood is furnished with a variety of antique and contemporary furniture.

Stanislaus teacher, student try flying, scuba diving in workshop

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Learning to pilot a plane in one week is an accomplishment for most people.

But learning in the same week to scuba dive and undergo intense training in the space shuttle program is a unique opportunity two Bay St. Louis residents recently experienced.

St. Stanislaus teacher James Thriffley was selected to participate in National Space Technology Laboratories first Astrotech workshop.

Chosen from a field of 43 educators from several states, the 10 persons selected were chosen based upon scientific interest, previous experience, academic achievement and physical aptitude by a National Aeronautics and Space Administration committee.

The 10 educators were then called on to select an outstanding student to participate in the program also.

Thriffley chose Stanislaus Junior Charles "Chuck" Breath IV.

"When we entered the program we had no idea how exact and thorough the workshop would be," he said.

The one-week course began with a briefing on the various aspects of aeronautics and aviation, along with the physiological reactions of space flight and navigation by Dr. Jerry Brown, NSTL's chief educational programs officer.

"Following Dr. Brown's lecture the first morning he told us we would pilot a plane that day and we did," Thriffley said.

Prior to the workshop, none of the participants had any flight experience.

"I was scared but after flying there was just a high feeling, everybody was bubbling over with exhilaration," he said.

At that point we became a real team, Thriffley said.

Flight instruction was given by Andy Ewing, aeronautics instructor at Stennis International Airport, and Captain Rod Young of the U. S. Air Force.

The training was in a high-performance sail plane and in a Varga Kachina trainer.

Tuesday, the group traveled to the University of New Orleans swimming pool for instruction in scuba diving and how to react in a weightless environment.

"Because this was my first time, I was scared again but the instructors were so outstanding, they helped us build confidence in ourselves," Thriffley said.

The weightlessness training the workshop participants went through is similar to what astronauts experience, he added.

In the weightlessness training the group climbed horizontal ladders, went through hoops on the ladders and had to sit in a submerged astronaut's chair.

"This was a tricky situation due to the difficulty of putting yourself where you needed because of the buoyance and weightlessness effect," Thriffley said.

The next problem the group faced was an underwater construction project involving plastic pipes.

"We had a diagram of a solution to a puzzle but were hindered by the pipes moving away from where you put them," he said.

"After positioning the pipes, instead of falling in place when you released them they had a tendency to go in a direction other than you intended them to go," he continued.

This project required team effort and Thriffley gave his student partner highest praise for solving problems encountered quickly.

Instructors for the water training exercises included Dr. Steve Stanic, Kevin Briggs and Richard Ray, all of the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity at NSTL.

Thriffley commented on the "excellent" lectures in astronomy and aviation navigation, as well as in astronaut's equipment, training and support functions.

In addition to the astronomy lectures, Jim McMurtry, NSTL aerospace education specialist, talked to the class about planetary probes and discoveries.

Another part of the workshop was in-depth training about the space shuttle program.

"We learned about the physiological aspects of being an astronaut such as accepting it as normal to experience motion sickness on flights due to the physiology of the inner ear," he said.

"The research and development of the space shuttle engines was extremely interesting to me because this lecture explored the many and varied types of engines that were considered for the program," Thriffley said.

"Life in a shuttle was explored so that we came to understand how the astronauts eat, sleep and go through the normal body functions," Thriffley added.

"I felt like the information we received was very candid and state of the art. The history of the space program and its evolution with respect to NSTL was especially fascinating," he said.

Thriffley said he was impressed by the intense teamwork and spirit of cooperation that goes on among all the employees at the Hancock County facility as well as the ones in Florida, Alabama, California and Texas.

"I felt especially comfortable with the fact that these people are forever encountering problems related to their work and that they are perpetually solving them to an unbelievable degree of expertise," he said.

Thriffley said he was really grateful to Dr. Brown and NSTL for the opportunity to go through the workshop and would look forward to any additional programs in similar fields.

"I feel like the young people in the program have a definite step up in becoming astronauts, he said.

"The teachers including myself have amassed a wealth of information that can be used immediately and I intend to use mine in astronomy and space history sections of my physics class," Thriffley concluded.

Air show spectacular planned at Mobile

Some 50,000 people are expected to attend the 1986 Air Force Association Air Show April 5 and 6 at Brookley Complex, I-10/Michigan Avenue Exit, Mobile, Ala.

The two-day event will feature nearly 100 aircraft on display and giving aerial demonstrations.

Some larger aircraft will be open to the public.

Gates open at 10 a.m. with the air show getting underway at 1 p.m.

Saturday the Lower Alabama Radio Control Club will fly authentic scale model aircraft from 10 a.m. to noon and the U.S. Precision Helicopter Team will demonstrate precise events they will perform in England in June to defend their world title against the Russian team.

On Sunday, the USAF Thunderbirds will perform in their F-16 Fighting Falcons.

"Tankbuster" for its combat capabilities, and the AV-8B Harrier jet with a vertical take off and short field landing demonstration.

The U.S. Coast Guard will display aircraft to salute the 75th Anniversary of Coast Guard Aviation.

Their HU-25 Falcon jet will demonstrate rescue techniques and a short field landing.

Ruthie Blakenship will perform her wing riding act while husband, Bob, loops, dives and rolls his 450 Stearman at low altitude.

Robby Grice in his Super Acro Sport and Mark Reynolds in his Starduster II will perform nonstop aerobatic routines.

The USAF Academy Jump Team, "The Wings of Blue," will perform their free fall and jump routines from a C-130 cargo plane flying overhead.

The Academy's Falconers will display several of their famous flying mascots and let them pose for pictures.

In celebration of the 75th Anniversary of Naval Aviation, the Air Force Association - Chapter 101, sponsor of the show, will host special guest, Commander Randy Cunningham, renowned flying ace from the Viet Nam campaign.

Cunningham is considered a Naval hero, having shot down the dreaded North Viet Nam ace, Colonel Tomb.

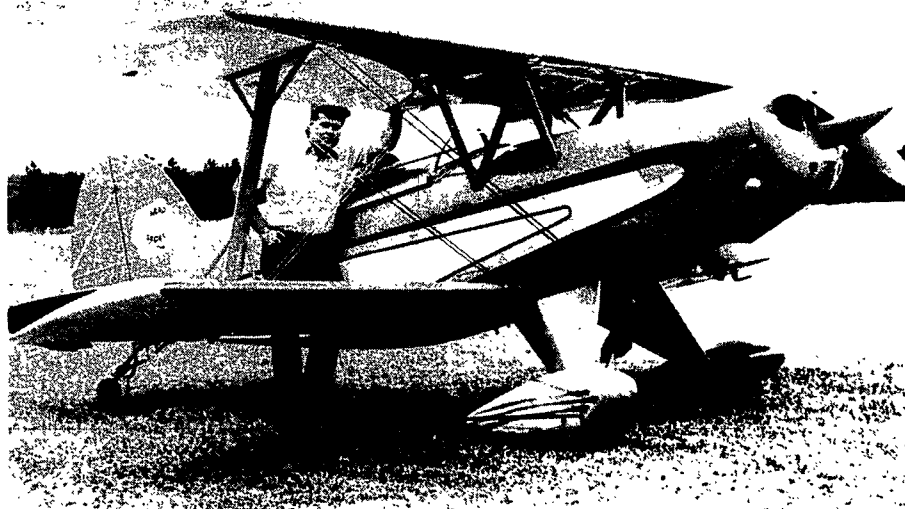

Bring chairs and blankets. Refreshments will be sold.

Parking is free and accessible from the I-10/Michigan Avenue Exit.

Perimeter Road and Doyle Park will be closed both days in compliance with the FAA crowd line regulations.

Half price advance tickets are $3 for adults and $2 for children 5-12. Day of show tickets will be $6 for adults and $4 for children.

For further information, phone 203-460-9834.

MOBILE AIR SHOW—Robby Grice of Irvington, Ala., will be a featured aerobatic performer at the Brookley

Air Show April 5 and 6 in Mobile. He will be flying the Super Acro Sport.

Thunderbird arrival maneuvers are at 10 a.m. with official performance at 3 p.m.

Alan Henley of Geiger, Ala. will highlight a fly-by of vintage, World War II aircraft with an aerobatic demonstration of the capabilities of the T-6 Texan.

Performing both days will be the man and woman aerobatics team, The French Connection.

Aerial demonstrations are planned by the A-10 Thunderbolt, an unusual looking aircraft, called the

Naval aviation anniversary to be observed

With the celebration of naval aviation's 75th anniversary less than two months away, a schedule of events is shaping up at Pensacola Naval Air Station to include a number of activities geared toward the general public during the week of May 3 to 11.

Unless otherwise noted, events are open to visitors free of charge.

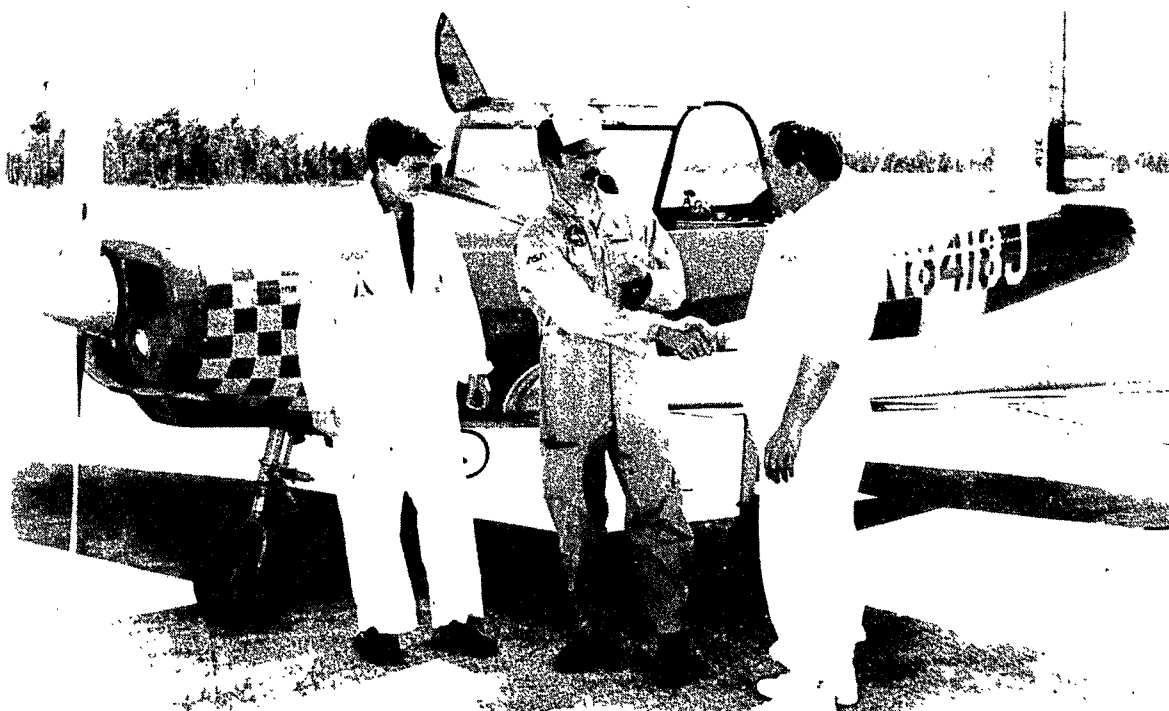

Although activities will take place throughout the United States during 1986, the focus of naval flight's Diamond Anniversary will occur in Pensacola, Fla., the site of Navy's first aeronautical station, affectionately known as the "Cradle of Naval Aviation."

Naval Air Station Pensacola is also home to the Naval Aviation Museum (open 9 a.m.-5 p.m. daily); the Navy's Flight Demonstration Squadron, the Blue Angels; and the Navy's only training aircraft carrier, USS Lexington.

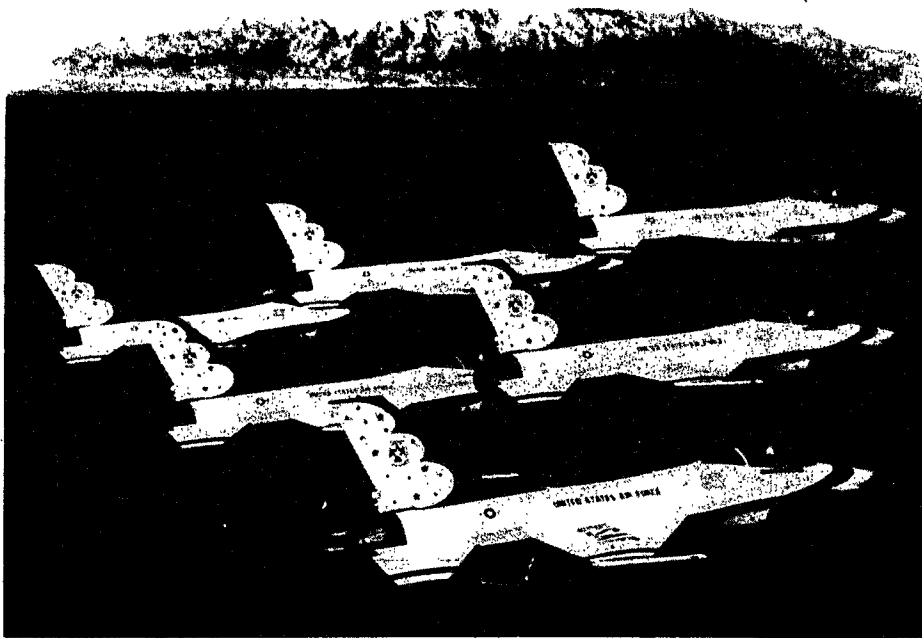

The following schedule of events provides general information, and updated information is available by calling, toll-free, 1-800-AIR-NAVY.

ASCS Report

Franklin A. Gennin, CED of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS stated that the Secretary of Agriculture, Richard E. Lyng, announced on March 21 that winter wheat producers will be offered an optional five percent paid land diversion for their 1986 crop.

Under this new program provision, winter wheat producers will have the option of diverting from production five percent of their wheat acreage base or the current option of diverting 10 percent of their base. The payment rate for diverted acreage will remain $2 per bushel. The action was taken to provide winter wheat producers greater flexibility in participating in the 1986 wheat program, and will also assist in adjusting total national wheat acreage to a more desirable level.

ETV Brief

CATFISH FESTIVAL "Farmweek" reporters will visit the World Catfish Festival in Belzoni April 5 and will show highlights of the festival on a program to air Monday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m., on Mississippi ETV.

They will also discuss the nutritional value of catfish, the art of cooking blackened catfish and the latest developments in the catfish industry.

GET YOUR $$ WORTH

AFTER-THE-FACT TAX QUESTIONS

Q. What to do if you've already filed and think you paid more than you need to?

A. You'll need a Form 1040X from the post office to notify the IRS of your errors. Send it to the same address where you sent your original returns; expect to wait up to three months for processing the refund.

Q. If you get a large refund every year, doesn't that mean you're letting the government hold onto your money, interest-free?

A. Yes. It usually takes until early summer to get your refund back to you, and that means the government gets a kind of interest-free loan from you for about six months. To avoid this in the future, have your employer increase your exemptions on the W-4 form.

Q. I don't itemize and I do contribute to charity, but I've never taken the deductions; how do I deduct my contributions in the future?

A. As of 1985, non-itemizing taxpayers can deduct half of all they've contributed, including donations to charitable thrift shops and contributions withheld from salary. Get receipts this year so you can claim this deduction.

Q. I haven't had time to do my taxes yet, and I'm still missing some important records; should I let it go until next year?

A. Definitely not. If you owe money, you'll have penalties and interest to pay. Just get IRS Form 4868, an Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File, from your local IRS office. This form will give you an extension until the middle of August, without explanation. Include a check for approximately what you'll owe to avoid interest or penalties.

Coach Denson to head USM baseball clinic

HATTIESBURG — The University of Southern Mississippi's Golden Eagle Baseball Clinic will be held June 30-July 2 on the Hattiesburg campus.

The clinic, for children in grades 3-6, will provide instructions on sound fundamentals to each participant, regardless of youth's level of ability when he enrolls. Emphasis will be placed on a learning atmosphere, as well as a fun time for all.

Heading the clinic will be USM head baseball coach Hill Denson. Aiding coach Denson will be asstant coaches Corky Palmer and Charlie Gray.

Participants will register from 9-11 a.m. on Monday, June 30, at Reed Green Coliseum on the USM campus.

The cost of the clinic will be $125 per participant. The fee includes meals, housing, student accident insurance and recreational facilities. Day participants may attend at a fee of $100 per person.

For further information, contact the Division of Lifelong Learning, Southern Station, Box 5056, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406-5056, or call (601) 266-4201.

KEEPING FIT

If you're looking for a change of pace from your regular running or walking program, try going backwards. Not only do you see your regular route from a whole new perspective, but running backwards will actually help you to better run forward. It's called retro-training, and many runners do it as a way to achieve a more balanced workout.

When running or walking forward, you use and develop your muscles in only one direction, using the same range of motion. In order to balance it out, you should reverse the range of motion even though you use the same muscles. This will help stretch the back leg muscles, increase flexibility and improve balance.

Obviously, running backwards is not a replacement for running forward. Retro-training is done to complement your regular workout and are incorporated into the warm-up exercises. However, it should make up 10 percent of your workout time, or at least 10 minutes.

You'll find that running backwards is not as easy as it looks. It's much more difficult than running forward, and burns more calories because you use more muscles in a more efficient manner.

Run on a flat, grassy terrain or track. NEVER try it on a street, hill, or busy area. It's also a good idea to run with a partner. That way you can take turns spotting each other, one running backwards and the other running forward.

SURPRISE VISIT—Gifts-n-Gold Dynamite, Bay Area Youth Soccer Girls Under-12 team, was paid a surprise visit Saturday at Waveland Elementary by the one-and-only Easter Bunny. Dynamite team members and their opponents, the Slidell Heartbreakers, were encouraged by the Easter Bunny to "play well and have fun." The Easter Bunny took the opening kickoff for Dynamite before leaving for an undisclosed destination. Dynamite won the match 1-0 with the only goal scored by Jennifer Carter on a penalty kick.

Boating safety hotline gets thousands of calls

The Boating Safety Hotline, a new toll-free telephone service inaugurated by the Coast Guard in June 1985, is helping boaters all across the country get information on boating safety recalls and other safety-related topics.

The Hotline has been set up by the Coast Guard on an experimental basis to do three things:

- (1) Tell boat owners and buyers whether or not a particular boat model has been involved in a safety recall (in some recalls, manufacturers are only able to notify 20-30 percent of current owners);
- (2) Take reports from owners concerning safety problems they are experiencing in their boats and determine if a safety recall is warranted; and
- (3) Answer technical questions on boating safety matters.

In the first six months of operation, the hotline received nearly 3,000 calls.

Perhaps one of the greatest benefits of the hotline is realized when it is publicized and used in conjunction with the list of current boating safety recalls being conducted by boat and engine manufacturers.

This list is published by the Coast Guard in the Boating Safety Circular and by news release.

When the recall list is published, word gets around that so-and-so manufacturer is conducting a recall for such-and-such a boat or engine. When owners hear this, they call the hotline to verify if their particular boat is involved in the recall.

Often, the caller discovers the boat he or she owns is the one named in the recall and they have never received notification from the manufacturer. The Hotline has revealed safety defects to many owners in this way.

Benefits of the hotline are being felt in other ways, too. The Coast Guard is starting to receive reports from boat owners regarding safety problems they are experiencing with their boats. As a result, several recall campaigns have already been generated through information and complaints received on the Hotline.

An analysis of the questions being asked on the hotline is also helping shape Coast Guard consumer information efforts. For example, recent calls show that boaters want more information about marine sanitation device requirements, and requirements for importing foreign-built boats that may not comply with Coast Guard boating safety standards.

Many boaters have questions about the content of the various Safety Standards, often so they can verify compliance of their own boat. As a result of this, the Coast Guard Consumer Staff has published three new Consumer Fact Sheets to cover these topics.

The Boating Safety Hotline is run by the Office of Boating, Public, and Consumer Affairs in Coast Guard Headquarters. The Hotline is in operation from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday, excluding Federal holidays. The toll-free number is 800-368-5647.

Ship Island boat fare hiked to $10

All National Park Service facilities on the Gulf Coast are now in full operation for the busy spring season, Superintendent Jerry Eubanks announced.

The Santa Rosa Day Use Facility located east of Pensacola Beach on Florida Highway 399 is now open from 8 a.m. to dusk daily.

"The facility which is accessible to disabled visitors, provides picnic shelters, restrooms, showers, a snack shop and an exhibit room," said Eubanks. The snack shop is open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

The campgrounds located at the Fort Pickens and Davis Bayou areas of Gulf Islands are now fully open and operational for the season. The fees for camping at these areas is $10 per night for a site with electricity and $8 per night for a non-electric site.

Located adjacent to the Fort Pickens area campground is the Fort Pickens Campground Store which is open daily 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. "The Langdon Beach Pavilion snack bar has also re-opened for the spring season," said Eubanks.

The Langdon Beach snack bar is located at Langdon Beach in the Fort Pickens area of Gulf Islands and is open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

"Boat tours out to East Ship Island are back in operation from both boat docks in Biloxi or Gulfport," said Eubanks.

The spring schedule for the Gulfport boat from March 26 through May 17, 1986, includes Monday through Friday departures from Gulfport at 11:30 a.m., leaving Ship Island at 3:30 p.m., arriving back in port at 4:45 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, the Gulfport boat departs at 9:00 a.m., 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

The Biloxi boat schedule for the spring, Monday through Friday is a 2:30 p.m. departure.

The Biloxi boat makes two trips daily on Saturdays and Sundays at 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

The round trip price for either the Biloxi or Gulfport boat or any departure time is $10 for adults and $5 for children (3-10 years). Restrooms, showers and a snack bar are available out at Ship Island.

"Gulf Islands National Seashore provides a wide variety of excellent recreational opportunities along the Florida and Mississippi Gulf Coasts," said Eubanks.

USM slates tennis camp

HATTIESBURG — The University of Southern Mississippi will host Doc's 1986 Big Gold Tennis Camp June 16-20.

The camp is designed for coeds ages 9-17, with instruction ranging from beginner to tournament level under the direction of E. L. "Doc" Harrington, USM tennis coach for 26 years.

The cost of the camp will be $135 — including meals, housing, insurance, awards, recreational facilities and a T-shirt. The day camper fee will be $100.

Registration will be held Monday, June 16, from 9-11 a.m. in the lobby of McLemore Hall on USM campus.

For more information, contact the Division of Lifelong Learning, Southern Station, Box 5136, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39406-5136 or telephone (601) 266-4201.

Regional science fair open to public

The public is invited to view exhibits at the Region VI Science and Engineering Fair Friday at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

Exhibit areas for elementary grades 1-6 will be open to the public at 1:30 p.m.-2:30 p.m. Exhibit areas for secondary students grades 7-12 will be open at 5:30 p.m.-6:30 p.m.

More than 1,200 students from George, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River and Stone counties are expected to compete in the fair. Projects are judged within grade level classes and categories ranging from behavioral science to zoology.

Two finalists will be selected to compete in the international fair May 11-17 at Fort Worth, Texas.

Eligible to compete in the state fair April 18-19 at Jackson State University will be seventh and eighth grade students who place first through third and ninth through twelfth grade students who place first through fifth.

The 1986 Region VI fair is sponsored cooperatively by the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity and the University of Southern Mississippi under the auspices of the Mississippi Science Teachers' Association.

The director of the six-county Region VI Science and Engineering Fair urged parents and teachers to note the new location of the April 4 fair at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

"Teachers, parents and students who make plans to participate based on last year's fair will wind up with their students at the wrong fair at the wrong time," director Sharon H. Walker said.

"We anticipate that more than 1,200 students will participate in the regional fair this year. Students from George, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River and Stone counties are planning to enter their science projects. We want to ensure that no one misses the competition because he or she didn't receive word about our new location at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum."

In another major scheduling change, elementary students now have from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. to set up projects the day of the fair, Walker noted. In previous years, elementary set up was scheduled from 8 a.m. until noon.

A first for this year is a free workshop for teachers on activities and materials for the science classroom. The workshop is presented by the science education department of the University of Southern Mississippi (USM) and the Mississippi Power Company.

Walker said that the Region VI fair was previously held at USM. It is scheduled at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum through the joint sponsorship of the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity and the University of Southern Mississippi. The regional event is held under the auspices of the Mississippi Science Teachers Association.

Walter, an education specialist with the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, announced the following schedule for the Apr. 4 fair:

Project set up for elementary grades 1-6, 8 a.m.-10 a.m.; set up for secondary grades 7-12, 8 a.m.-11 a.m.; elementary judges orientation, 9 a.m.-10 a.m.; secondary judges orientation, noon-1 p.m.

Elementary judging, 10 a.m.-1 p.m.; secondary judging, 1 p.m.-5 p.m.; elementary teachers' workshop, 9:30 a.m.-noon; secondary teachers' workshop, 1:30 p.m.-3 p.m.; elementary exhibit area open to public, 1:30 p.m.-2:30 p.m.; secondary exhibit area open to public, 5:30 p.m.-6:30 p.m.

Animal experimentation and safety committee inspection of projects, 9 a.m.-11 a.m.; special awards judging, 1 p.m.-5 p.m.; presentation of elementary awards, 2:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m.; presentation of secondary awards, 7 p.m.-8:30 p.m.; removal of elementary projects, 3:30 p.m.-4:30 p.m.; removal of secondary projects 8:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

Career planning aids available at library

It's never too early to begin planning for college or a career and the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library has a special collection aimed at providing information to students and others planning a career.

The college-career collection contains more than 50 specialized reference books in addition to 1,200 college catalogs, according to Stacie Browne, reference librarian, who is available to assist persons in using the materials.

"The most important reference source in the collection," says Browne, "is our collection of college catalogs on microfiche." The collection is divided into two groups: major U.S. colleges and universities and Southern regional colleges. The Southern regional group includes Jr. colleges, theological seminaries and technical schools as well as major colleges and universities.

Individuals can view the catalogs on a microfiche reader which enlarges the microfilmed catalog. Having them on microfiche allows the library to maintain an extensive collection of catalogs and keep them up-to-date.

Numerous publications in the special collection provide further information on colleges and universities including financial aid and scholarships.

Other books in the collection give detailed characteristics of careers including the rapidly growing technical fields, notes Browne.

People who need guidelines for writing resumes or hints for successful job interviews will find several reference sources in the special section.

"There is a variety of materials in the collection that will help anyone planning to enter college, select a career, or change careers get the facts they need to make an informed decision," says Browne.

Miss Buccaneer Pageant scheduled May 17

Miss State Parks 1986-87 will be selected at a pageant Monday, June 30 at the Sheraton Regency Inn in Jackson. Miss State Parks will be selected from 13 finalists who will have won preliminary pageants at state parks throughout Mississippi.

Miss State Parks serves as an official hostess of the Bureau of Recreation and Parks. She will serve in a public relations capacity attending special events at the parks, modeling for park promotional literature, making public appearances in parades, before civic and business groups, radio and television and travel shows.

To the winner of the final pageant goes her choice of several scholarships to several Mississippi universities, a trip to the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N.J., courtesy Delta Air Lines with hotel accommodations provided by Rightway Travel, a promotional trip to Destin, Fla., and other gifts provided by area merchants.

The competition is open to any young lady between the ages of 16 and 22, a legal resident of Mississippi, and never married.

In the preliminary pageants, the contestants will be judged on poise, an interview with the judges, an on-stage question, and appearance in swim suit.

The final pageant will include an evening gown competition. A performing talent is not required in the competition.

Complete details and entry applications can be obtained from any state park sponsoring a pageant or from the Bureau of Recreation and Parks, P.O. Box 20305, Jackson, MS 39209, telephone 961-5014.

4-H News

By Daney Jackson
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

4-H LOSES FRIEND

On January 28 the space shuttle Challenger and its heroic crew met a tragic end. Among the crew members who lost their lives that day was U.S. Air Force Lieutenant Colonel Ellison S. Onizuka, a former 4-H member.

Ellison Onizuka was the first Japanese American and the first native Hawaiian to fly in space. His first mission was in January 1985.

During that mission, he carried three 4-H flags with him. He presented one flag to the Hawaii state 4-H program, one to the Texas state 4-H program and was scheduled to present one to the national 4-H leadership forum in February.

He recently participated in the production of a new 4-H educational television series, "Blue Sky Below My Feet - Adventures in Space Technology."

He credited the 4-H program with giving him opportunities to develop self confidence, the ability to achieve and a spirit of exploration and challenge.

It was during a visit to Washington, D.C. to participate in National 4-H Conference that Colonel Onizuka decided on a career in aerospace. He never forgot the many ways 4-H helped him in his personal and professional life.

Colonel Onizuka always made time to talk to young people and to encourage them to strive for excellence. He described how 4-H helped him achieve and develop confidence.

He taught boys and girls about space, what it was like to fly, and how the borders of countries disappeared and the world became a single space for all people. He wanted to share the wonders of space, the challenge of exploration and necessity of taking risks.

The 4-H members, leaders, parents and supporters in Hancock County take this opportunity to express our sympathy, admiration and respect to the families of Colonel Onizuka and the Challenger crew.

Stanislaus students excel in state tournament

Students from St. Stanislaus High School participated in the State Science and Mathematics Tournament held recently at Mississippi College in Clinton, Mississippi. Eighty-one schools and approximately 750 of the state's top students competed for highest academic honors in biology, chemistry, physics and mathematics.

Those students attending from St. Stanislaus were the following: Edward Payne, Jake Welsh, Mike Yarborough, David Zanca, Joel Thames, Jose Lau, Marco Lau, David Bourgeois, Stephen Montagnot, Louis Schruoff and Steve Bouls.

St. Stanislaus won a total of nine individual awards in the competition. These award winners and their ranking in the competition are as follows: Joel Thames placed in the top 10 percent in biology; Jose Lau and David Bourgeois tied for third in the state in biology; David Bourgeois and Joel Thames placed in the top 10 percent in chemistry; Edward Payne, Jake Welsh and Mike Yarborough placed in the top 10 percent in mathematics; and Edward Payne placed in the top 10 percent in physics.

The six individual winners (along with the three double winners) were the most awards earned by the school in the history of this competition.

James Thriffley, chairman of the Science Department at St. Stanislaus, accompanied the students to the state competition. The St. Stanislaus students were selected on the basis of academic performance as shown in potential and aptitude.

HONOR GRAD—Seaman Recruit Joseph A. Warden of U.S. Navy Company 634 has been selected honorman of his basic training class based on his performance in the areas of leadership, initiative, military bearing, sportsmanship, response to orders, general cleanliness, qualifications of a good shipmate, and overall scholastic standing. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Warden of Lakeshore, he is a 1985 honor graduate of Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville and a 1983 graduate of Hancock North Central High School. He will continue at Great Lakes Naval Training Center in a 16-week nuclear power training program.

Lung Association, Rotary sponsoring fund-raiser

Hancock County Chapter, Mississippi Lung Association, will sponsor a "Superkids" field day event at Bay High Stadium Saturday, April 12, at 9 a.m.

"Superkids" will give boys and girls grades 3 through 6 at Christ Episcopal Day School and North Bay Elementary School an opportunity to participate in an educational-sports event and at the same time help raise funds to fight crippling lung diseases in Mississippi.

Students will enter five of nine events, such as 30-yard dash, football throw, skip rope, frisbee throw, beanbag throw, obstacle race, etc.

Students will secure pledges from sponsors and will receive special Superkids t-shirts, prizes, ribbons and certificates for their efforts in game events and fund raising.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded for each event. "Lung health awareness" and the hazards of smoking are also featured as part of the educational program of "Superkids."

Mrs. Elda Duke of Bay St. Louis is chairman of the Hancock County Lung Chapter. She said this special event on behalf of the Mississippi Lung Association's programs of expanded patient services, medical education and research, "promises to be one of the happiest and healthiest experiences of the year for the students."

Citizens of Bay St. Louis are urged to sponsor a "Superkid" in their neighborhood when asked for support. All contributions are income-tax deductible.

"Superkids" is being co-sponsored by Bay St. Louis Rotary Club. Committee chairmen coordinating Superkids include Rotary's Mark Uram of Bay St. Louis.

Area youth win short story awards

Smokey Bear (aka Karen Bergeron) was a busy fellow last week as he and Hancock County Forester David Watts presented awards for the best short stories written by fourth and fifth graders about "A Forest Happening".

Sponsored by the Diamondhead Garden Club, the contest is part of a six-state program by the Deep South Region of the National Council of State Garden Clubs to alert young people to the importance of conserving and protecting natural resources.

The stories, featuring Smokey and Woody (Give a hoot! Don't pollute!) Owl, could not exceed 100 words, and were judged on content, composition and spelling.

Students from Coast Episcopal Academy and Hancock North Central Elementary School participated.

Troy Schwan, a fourth grade student at Diamondhead Academy and son of Mrs. Gail Schwan of Diamondhead, received a $50 savings bond for his first place entry.

Second place prize was awarded to Randy Hartwell from Coast Episcopal. Third prize to Art Lancaster from Diamondhead Academy.

Whitney White from Coast Episcopal, Amy Puchey from Hancock North Central and Duncan Loughridge from Diamondhead Academy received honorable mention awards - all books.

Smokey also gave each of the 45 contestants a packet of his special souvenirs - comic book, ruler, pencil, lapel pin and litter bag.

HONOR GRAD—Sergeant Bruce A. Bradburn, son of B.A. and Jeannie Favre Bradburn of Bay St. Louis and Kenner, La., recently graduated fourth in his class at the U.S. Seventh Army Noncommissioned Officers Academy in Europe. Bradburn's commanding officer noted, "His outstanding performance as an honor graduate of the academy is commendable and is an indication that he will continue to demonstrate the highest proficiency and standards of leadership throughout his Army career." Bradburn is a 1983 graduate of Bannabell High School in Metairie, La. He is married to the former Julie Deuchert of Kenner and is currently stationed in Spain.

Coast, Pass in Harrison Library Brain Bowl event

Six Harrison County high school quiz teams will test their mettle against questions researched by public library reference librarians in the fourth annual Brain Bowl tournament to be played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, April 8 and 10 at four library locations.

On April 8, matches are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m., as follows: At the Biloxi Library on Lamusee Street, Biloxi and Harrison Central High Schools will meet; at the Long Beach Library on Jeff Davis Avenue, Long Beach opposes Coast Episcopal High School; and at the Pass Christian Library on Heirn Street, St. John Interparochial and Pass Christian High School are opponents.

On April 10 at 7:30 p.m., the two highest scoring winners from the preceding Tuesday matches will meet at the Gulfport-Harrison County Library in Gulfport to play for the trophy donated by Hancock Bank.

Previous holders of the trophy have been Harrison Central High School and Long Beach High School. The latter team, coached by Veronica Sprinkle, was the 1985 winner.

Local radio and TV personalities will serve as quizmasters for the contests. John Zack of WVMJ Radio will do the Long Beach match; Chris Graham, news director for FOX-AM/FM, will be at Pass Christian; and Dave Vincent, news director for WLOX-TV, will handle the quiz at Biloxi.

Ed Bryson, also of WLOX-TV, will be quizmaster for the final round in Gulfport on April 10.

In addition to Mrs. Sprinkle, quiz team coaches include Madelyn Taylor and Janet Young for Coast Episcopal, Martha Van Zant for Biloxi, Suzie Byrd for Harrison Central, Linda Jordan for Pass Christian, and Linda Bell for St. John.

Locally selected judges, spotters, scorers, and timers are required in order to carry out these intensely fought contests.

Special T-shirts, given to all the student players and their coaches, have been donated by the Friends of the Gulfport-Harrison County Library.

CRICK IN NECK

A spasmodic condition of the muscles in the neck and over the shoulder area occurs when the neck bones have become subluxated, irritating spinal nerves which control muscle function. Aside from being painful, it is often attended with serious complications if not cared for promptly. We find that people who acquire them will usually experience additional neck problems, each more severe than the previous! Falls, drafts, accidents, posture all contribute to this painful condition when the patient has an underlying structural problem. Surgery, traction, clipping of the nerves are last resort measures. The doctor of Chiropractic should be considered first for this condition as the spine and structural muscular balance are his special domain. Prompt attention will usually render the condition painless and avoid permanent damage.

ACT preparation seminar planned

A free ACT preparation seminar will be conducted at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Apr. 10, at the Bay St. Louis Senior High School library on Blue Meadow Road.

Open to any high school student planning to take the ACT test, required for college entrance in Mississippi, the seminar is intended for especially those students scheduled for the Apr. 12 test date.

Since the test may be repeated, a student dissatisfied with his or her score on an earlier test, may wish to attend the seminar and take the test again.

School counselors can give information on applying for future tests.

The seminar is sponsored by Delta Kappa Gamma, national honorary teachers organization, and will be conducted by local members Mrs. Gloria Dean, assistant program developer and psychometrist at BHS; Mrs. Helen Mestayer, Chapter One coordinator for Hancock County Schools; and Dr. Frances McDonald, assistant professor of math and computer science at Delgado Community College in New Orleans.

McDonald is president of the local chapter which encompasses the area from Waveland to Long Beach on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The seminar will cover, among other topics, an overview of the four components tests, testing tips, sample questions, and a review of concepts likely to be needed to answer certain types of questions including mathematics.

For further information call Gloria Dean in daytime at 467-1021, or Frances McDonald evenings at 467-9513.

USM announces fall rush schedule

The Interfraternity Council of USM has announced the dates for summer rush parties, rush weekend, pledging and structured rush.

Summer rush parties will be hosted by USM fraternities, with participants from across the state visiting the campus from May 10 through July 26.

USM will host a rush weekend on July 18-19. This will allow persons to come to USM and get a first-hand look at fraternity life.

The schedule is:

Friday — open parties hosted by fraternities; and Saturday — parties from 2-12 p.m. at the fraternity houses.

Schedules for the weekend will be distributed in the University Union at 1 p.m. Saturday, July 19. Housing will be available, but participants will be allowed to stay in the fraternity houses.

Fraternities will issue pledge bids from Aug. 1 through Aug. 26.

Between Aug. 27 and Sept. 2, rushees may sign up for structured rush. Fall registration also will take place at this time. The dates for structured rush are Sept. 3-6.

This will consist of rush activities on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Preference parties will be held Saturday morning and bids will go out Saturday afternoon.

After rush is completed, participants may attend a football game in USM's M.M. Roberts Stadium.

For more information, write to IFC RUSH, Southern Station Box 8412, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406-8412.

Schools as Factories: AIM CBOK

(The following article resulted from a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association.)

By Allen Scarborough, PhD
Assistant Professor of Sociology
Director, Honors Program
Mississippi College

AIM was the 1979 brainchild of the State Board of Education and the Mississippi Commission on School Accreditation.

Accountability and Instructional Management (AIM) was proposed as a way to pinpoint who in our school systems is responsible to whom for what. AIM planned to manage learning much like school administrators manage their finances.

Under AIM, education is supposed to be seen as a business or a corporation. In other words, education was intended to a factory. The schools, under AIM, are factories which "produce an educated product."

AIM should improve our schools' output if the system is well managed.

The principles that saved Chrysler were to save education in Mississippi.

The Jackson plan is a standardized curriculum for its schools. Manuals were written, printed, and distributed to each classroom teacher.

This Common Body of Knowledge (CBOK) details for each teacher what should be taught on a weekly, even daily, basis. Students must master 80 percent of the essential objectives for their grade in order to be promoted.

CBOK is very specific. For example, in the second week of the third grade every third-grade teacher will ensure that "given a passage orally by the teacher, describing a specific object, the pupil will select the name of the object described."

The teacher is then told, "Read passages containing descriptive words and phrases."

The detail in CBOK is ex-cruciating. The third grade CBOK is three inches thick.

CBOK breaks the art of teaching into thousands of minute steps, systematized and standardized. Education becomes a product monitored by uniform tests, graded by computer. The system becomes an assembly line with repetitive tasks and hierarchical control.

have spread into other spheres.

Learning is not a product. It is not made in factories. Our children, likewise, are not products, like new Plymouths, run through an assembly line.

The kind of learning that can be captured on an IBM sheet and scored by a computer is not the essential objective of education. Learning is more complex than that and our children are more complex than that.

No matter how precisely the teacher measures "educational outcomes," no matter how much rational planning goes into designing a standardized curriculum, no matter how many computers and experts, the core of education is the relationship between the teacher and the child.

CBOK is efficient, but it leaves too much out. It only looks at what is uniform, shared, common. It sees only one part of the child, one part of learning.

Teaching is an art, not a factory skill. Teaching requires the crafting of a relationship between teacher and student where the student's curiosity is challenged, where the student becomes responsible for questioning and discovery and problem-solving.

Teaching will be improved by making teachers into better artists, not better technicians.

During the visit the Scouts learned how to make a food basket.

Girl Scout News

Junior Troop 453 of Bay Catholic School has been studying citizenship. The troop went on a tour of the Bay St. Louis City Hall to learn about the duties of local government officials.

The troop is also planning an all-day outing and cookout in anticipation of a late spring camping trip.

The girls of Daisy Troop 90 of St. Clare School have been studying personal grooming and a nurse came to discuss good health habits with them.

Cadette Troop 206 distributed handmade Christmas ornaments and decorations to needy families before the holidays.

The members are studying animal care before becoming veterinary aides.

The troop went on a field trip to the Waveland Small Animal Hospital.

Those attending were Dawn Sonnier, Brenda, Cherie and Wendy Dalon, Cristy Carver, Corie Seals and leaders Mrs. Susan May, Mrs. Barbara Sonnier and Mrs. G. Carver.

Brownie Troop 93 of the Gulfview School planted a Girl Scout silver anniversary silver maple at the school.

They sang carols at the Hotel Reed shortly before Christmas. Now the troop is working on the Halley's Comet patch program.

Brownie Troop 66 of the Waveland School held a weekend outing which included an ABC scavenger hunt.

It has also held its annual investiture of new girls and celebrated this occasion with a King's cake party.

Junior Troop 381 of the Diamondhead Academy received a large donation from the Diamondhead Men's Golf Association. The girls are intending to use it for their spring trip.

The troop will march in the Diamondhead Mardi Gras Parade Saturday.

BACH FESTIVAL—Roger Maxey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Maxey of Long Beach, was among 22 Coast piano students who participated in a recent Bach Festival at Hinds Junior College in Raymond. Elementary, junior high and high school students throughout the state auditioned before judges at the college. Maxey played 'Minuet in G Minor' and received a superior rating. He is an eighth grader at St. Stanislaus and is a piano student of Mrs. Elsie Barnes of Gulfport.

St. Clare spelling winners

St. Clare School in Waveland recently completed its 1985/86 Easter Seal Spell-A-Thon.

MELISSA KNIGHT

Students completed a 100-word spelling test and collected pledge contributions based on their test score.

First grade through fourth grade participated raising a grade total of $1,216.

Pass, Bay High cited at Alcorn High School Day

Alcorn State University, Lorman, held its Annual Spring High School Senior and Junior College Sophomore Day on Saturday, March 22, in the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Complex. Registration started at 9 a.m. The day's activities included campus tour, a talent show, academic advisement, financial aid and admissions workshop, musical auditions, drawings for prizes, and a rock band show at 6 p.m.

Students from Jefferson County Schools were the largest group to participate in the activities during the high school day. Plaques were awarded to Pass Christian High School and Bay St. Louis Senior High School students who travelled the longest distance to come to Alcorn.

The overall fund raiser was second grader Melissa Knight in Mrs. Worrel's class.

She raised $121 and received the Spell-A-Thon trophy, t-shirt, pencil pack and tote bag.

The second highest fund raiser was Nikki Chapman raising $82 and third place was Audrey Heard raising $66.

Both students are in Sister Antoinette's third grade class. Their class raised the most of any with a total of $369.

Students scoring a perfect 100 were Brooks Quinlan, Nikki Chapman, Anne Courge, Aimee Harville, Kasey Ryan, Hester Sharpe, Lauren Weidman, Laura Felder, Jonathan Favre, Leo Laurent and Stephanie Schmitt.

Seventy percent of the money raised remains in Hancock County to provide direct services to disabled children and adults.

Anyone seeking information regarding the services may contact the Easter Seal office in Biloxi at 435-4505 or contact Sherlyn Breeland, Hancock treasurer for Easter Seals at 467-9409.

Sheila Donnell, field representative for Hancock County cited Sister Jane Birrcher, the faculty, the students and contributors for making the Spell-A-Thon a success.

Second death moves Sears to step-up Brawny bed recall

As a result of a second fatal accident involving a Brawny bunk bed, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission announced that Sears, Roebuck and Co. is notifying customers of the availability of a free safety modification kit for the beds.

The recently reported second death involved a 21-month-old Pennsylvania child reportedly playing under a Brawny bunk bed with his 3-year-old brother in September 1985. The mattress assembly was dislodged and fell on the younger child. The bunk beds were set up as twin beds at the time of the accident, but did not have cross wires to prevent the mattress assembly from falling through the bed frame. In December 1983, a two-year-old Denver boy died under similar circumstances.

In February 1985, Sears advertised the availability of a modification kit in newspapers nationwide and through signs in its retail and catalog outlets. Only about 25,000 of about 112,000 Brawny owners have ordered the modification kit.

Sears will use national magazine advertisements and warning posters in its outlets to notify customers of the modification kit's availability.

The free modification kit was developed to help prevent the mattress assembly from falling through the bed frame. It consists of four metal cross wires. Two cross wires are to be securely fastened from one side rail to the other on each bed.

Customers who have a Brawny bunk bed which does not have cross wires securely screwed onto the side rails can obtain a free modification kit by calling 800-831-5551 or their nearest Sears retail or catalog outlet. In Illinois only, customers should call 800-323-0366. The kits will be shipped free of charge from the manufacturer directly to consumer.

Additional information is available to consumers on CPSC's toll-free hotline at 800-638-CPSC. A teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 800-638-8270.

wald, John M. Falnestock Jr., Alpha Optical Systems, Inc.; W. H. Holman, Chairman of the Board Jitney-Jungle; Edward Mayers, President and CEO Mid South Rail Corporation; and Lawrence A. Smith, President of Marine Systems Group for several executives addressed the audience of students and businessmen who attended.

PAGEANT HOPEFUL— Tonya Lynn Winstead, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Winstead of Kiln and a seventh grader at Our Lady Academy, plans to be in Jackson this weekend as a participant in the Mississippi finals of the 1986 Miss Junior America Pageant.

Area band students receive high rating

Thirty-eight students from the Bay St. Louis School District entered the Gulf Coast Band Directors Association's annual Solo and Ensemble.

These students represented North Bay and Waveland Elementary Schools.

Twenty-two students received a '1' or Superior rating on their solo while 16 students received a '2' or Excellent rating.

Those students receiving '1' or Superior from Waveland Elementary are Megan Johnson and Amy Tartavouille, flutes; Danielle Carter, Michelle Dietrich, Heather McIver, Jennifer Otis, Angela Parker, Angel Travis and Amanda Videll, clarinets; Matthew Price, saxophone; Tyler Austin and Leslie Boshell, trumpets; and Jason Lafontaine, trombone.

Superior ratings for North Bay School include Christi Avery, Vickie Faye, Jennifer Labat, Omeke Rawls and Lachina Tillman, clarinets; Anthony Hatchett, saxophone; Tony Richardson and Ryan Schafer, trumpets; and Myron Labat, trombone.

Excellent ratings for Waveland Elementary were given to Tory Abadie, Jimmy Baldree, Nicky Ellington and Daniel Moore, trumpets; Clarence Hall and Lloyd Videll, trombone; and Michelle Pearson, bells.

Excellent ratings for North Bay went to Marmi Elmer and Rhonda Williams, flutes; Julie Bounds and Michelle Dunn, clarinets; Breenan Compretta, saxophone; Rosa Acosta, Mike McMillen and Richard Seals, trumpets; and William Tell, trombone.

The piano accompanist was Beth Randle. The band students are under the direction of Alfred Sheppard.

ETV Brief

GREENWOOD VISIT— "Mississippi Roads" visits the site of an archaeological dig in Greenwood in a rebroadcast of the popular series at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 8, on Mississippi ETV. Bill Hony, president of the Mississippi Archaeological Association, explains what's going on.

The "Mississippi Roads" crew travels south to Jackson for a close-up look at the Jackson Mets baseball team. Interviewed are Barry Lyons of Jackson, catcher; Con Maloney of Jackson, owner; and Michael Feder of Madison, director of public relations.

On "Mississippi Roads" weekly side trip, Macon is the destination, where the Noxubee County Library, once a jail, is visited.

On the cooking segment, Harold Lee, owner of the Big Apple Inn in Jackson, shares the restaurant's recipe for a hot sausage sandwich.

Youth Brief

HOSPITAL TOURS

Gulf Coast Community Hospital recently hosted tours for D'Iberville and Fernwood Middle Schools. Enrichment class students from each school toured the GCCH facility and discussed opportunities in the medical profession.

Department managers for respiratory care, physical therapy, special studies, radiology, infection control and laboratory were on hand to answer questions asked by students and to demonstrate medical equipment.

UNO THEATER— Douglas Therries, center, falls through "The Forgotten Door" in the University of New Orleans Theatre for Youth production of this space-age fantasy to be performed April 4 through 6 in the UNO Performing Arts Center. The door is environmentally constructed by actors, beginning at bottom right and going clockwise, Tim Steiner, Rene Broussard, Leann Jamison and Mot Filipowski. For information on the play, call 504-238-6395.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER BY THEMSELVES...

THE WHOLE FAMILY SUFFERS.

It's not an unusual story. Take a successful individual who has everything going for him: Great family, promising career and life's daily problems he tries to solve with alcohol — and sometimes drugs. Eventually, his problems will grow to include chemical dependency. Can his family handle that?

What about the successful business woman? She's attractive, personable — and an alcoholic. Her favorite hobby — drinking martinis at lunch and after work. How long can she stay on top? Her home life as a wife and mother has already turned into a nightmare for her family.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER ALONE.

At GULF OAKS HOSPITAL & CLINIC, chemical dependence is viewed as a family illness and recovery for the entire family is considered essential. If a family member or close friend is destroying their life by alcohol or drug indulgence, they need help. Professional medical help. At GULF OAKS, family involvement is an integral part of our program. Team members work with the family to help them understand the patient's problem as an illness.

DON'T SUFFER ALONE. HELP IS AVAILABLE — AND SO NEAR.

Blue Willow...

the most popular pattern ever to decorate a plate is imported from England and produced by Churchill, a leading china manufacturer for over 145 years. For more than 200 years Blue Willow has graced the finest dining tables in the world and stirred the imaginations of discerning collectors. And no wonder. Who, after all can resist the charming myth depicted on the plate — that of the star-crossed lovers who were turned into immortal love birds? And who could fail to recognize the quality of the hand engraving or the distinctive cobalt blue?

And now there's a real reason to celebrate. For a limited time through this exclusive offer you can buy classic Blue Willow at tremendous savings. At these prices you can't afford not to start your collection. But do it today. An opportunity like this may never come your way again.

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The mother of a 21-month-old boy who died in a March 28 Waveland foster home fire has filed a $3 million damage suit against the foster parents, City of Waveland, and Hancock County Welfare Department.

The suit was filed Thursday in Hancock County Circuit Court by Lisa M. Pesta, a resident of Bay St. Louis, on behalf of her infant son Scottie Lee Pesta, who died along with five other foster children in a Sears Avenue tragedy.

In addition to the welfare department and the city, the defendants in the suit include Larry and Sandy Giveans, 436 Sears Ave., Waveland, Miss.

The suit alleges that the Giveans couple "...are liable to the plaintiff for the death of the infant...by reason of their gross and wanton negligence in maintaining a fire hazard on the premises...."

Further the suit alleges "...are liable to the plaintiff for the death of the infant...to (1) furnish him reasonably safe and adequate housing; (2) to adequately supervise and protect him from danger; and (3) to take adequate safeguards that he not suffer physical harm from accident; their breach and failure in which duties were an efficient and proximate cause of his injury and death...."

The suit alleges "...the Hancock County Welfare Department is liable to the plaintiff for the death of the infant, Scottie Lee Pesta, by reason of their gross and wanton negligence in allowing the infant to be housed in housing in which there was a fire hazard...."

The suit contends the Welfare Department failed in "...its duty to furnish him safe and adequate housing; and the duty to select adequately trained and motivated personnel who would properly supervise and protect the said infant from danger and to take adequate safeguards that he would not suffer physical harm from accident...."

The defendant accuses the City of Waveland of "...gross and wanton negligence in its failure to properly control and extinguish the fire which had commenced earlier and which had been reported to the Waveland Fire department earlier...."

She contends in her suit the earlier fire which she alleges was not extinguished properly "...was a contributing cause to the conflagration which resulted in the injury and death of the infant, Scottie Lee Pesta."

The plaintiff itemizes her $3 million in damages as follows;

"1. On behalf of the estate of the infant, Scottie Lee Pesta, for pain, suffering and mental anguish — $500,000.

"2. On behalf of Lee Pesta, for hi

"3. On behalf of Lee Pesta, for hi

"4. On behalf of Lee Pesta, for hi

"5. On behalf of Lee Pesta, for hi

In addition to the court to is order "...design scene of the fire! such time as the circumstances o vestigated b experts...."

In requesting states "...the section contains ess irreplaceable evi and circumstanc fire and the inju infant Scottie Lee fears that said e lost and re unavailable in ti tiff's action...."

On Saturday, copy of the la Haas, Hancock ( referee, stated, "I was surpris filed even before federal authoriti portunity to c vestigation."
